SUCCESS AFTER TOIL, EMULATES LEGENDS

Alcaraz had a gruelling week, spending most time on the court (23 hours & 40 minutes) in a single Grand Slam. He dragged his weary body to a 6-4, 2-6, 7-6 (1), 6-3 victory in the final. He became the youngest Grand Slam men's champ since his idol Rafael Nadal at the 2005 French Open. He is also the youngest champion in New York since Pete Sampras in 1990

Gyanvapi suit maintainable: Dist judge

Rejects mosque committee's contention, lets lower court hear case

Security beefed up at the Gyanvapi road leading to the controversial mosque in Varanasi to maintain law and order ahead of the court's verdict on Monday | ANI

UTTAR PRADESH POLICE PUT ON HIGH ALERT

The UP government on Monday put its security forces on high alert in all sensitive areas across the state including the old city areas of Lucknow in the wake of the court order in the Gyanvapi mosque case. Patrolling was intensified in sensitive areas across the state. "Religious heads have issued statements asking for peace to be maintained," said Prashant Kumar, additional director general of police (law and order)

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

THE sensitive Gyanvapi mosque was back on the front burner after a Varanasi district court on Monday rejected a plea against maintainability of a suit filed by five Hindu women seeking the right to worship Goddess Shringar Gauri and other deities on the mosque premises. The judge allowed a Varanasi court to continue proceedings in the suit.

The plea was filed by Anjuman Intezamia Masjid (AIM), the management committee of the mosque. AIM later said it would appeal against the order in the Allahabad High Court.

Separately, the Allahabad High Court which was hearing a different case on the temple-mosque dispute, fixed September 28 for its next hearing.

AIM cited three prominent Acts — Places of Worship (Special Provision) Act-1991, The Waqf Act-1995 and Shri Kashi Vishwanath Temple Act-1983 — to challenge the maintainability of the petition. District Judge Dr Ajay Krishna Vishvesha said the suit was maintainable and not barred by any of the three Acts.

He posted the matter in his court for next hearing on September 22 when a written statement would be filed and the issues framed.

Five women — Rakhi Singh, Laxmi Devi, Sita Sahu, Manju Vyas and Rekha Pathak — had filed petitions in 2021, seeking permission for daily worship of the deities. According to the plaintiffs, "they worshipped Maa Sringar Gauri, Lord Hanuman at the disputed place regularly even after 15th August, 1947. Therefore, The Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act, 1991 does not operate as bar," the judge said.

He pointed out that the Hindu plaintiffs were not claiming ownership of the property, nor had they filed the suit to declare the property as a temple.

Besides, the "bar under Section 85 of the Waqf Act does not operate in the present case because the plaintiffs are non-Muslims and strangers to the alleged Waqf created at the disputed property," the 26-page order said.

As for the UP Shri Kashi Vishwanath Temple Act, the judge said no bar was imposed by it regarding a suit claiming a right to worship idols installed in the endowment within the premises of the temple or outside it.

> Judge saheb might have not found Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act, 1991, applicable here but for us the door of upper courts are always open

BBMP finally acts, razes gates, walls in Mahadevapura

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

UNDER heavy fire over its mismanagement of the unprecedented rain and flooding that created havoc in Bengaluru during the last few weeks, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) swung into action on Monday morning and demolished gates and compound walls of 15 properties, out of the 24 blacklisted, in Mahadevapura zone.

The properties which the BBMP began to bulldoze on Monday belong to middle-class owners. Properties belonging to big builders like Prestige, Epsilon, DivyaSree, and MLA Haris-owned Nalapad group in Mahadevapura Zone were served notices. The demolition drive started at 10 am, following directions from Zonal Commissioner, Dr K V Trilok Chandra.

Surveyors from Revenue Department, White Field Division Police, BBMP Marshals and engineers were deployed to clear encroachments that have come up on storm water drains (SWD). The encroachments have shrunk the width of the SWD, which runs from Chinnappanahalli to Varthuru lake, said Muni Reddy, Executive Engineer of Hoodi Sub-Division.

HC for immediate steps to clear buildings on SWDs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Monday directed the State Government and the BBMP to take immediate steps to clear all encroachments on Storm Water Drains (SWDs). The court said the BBMP had failed to perform its statutory duties of clearing encroachments.

The court also directed the state government and the civic body to take steps to ensure prevention of dumping of waste and pollutants into SWDs and submit a status report in this regard on or before the next date of hearing to be held on October 12, 2022. A division bench of Acting Chief Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty passed the order on a plea filed by activist Geetha Misra who drew the attention of the court by providing photographs which showed the flood situation in the city. P2

NCERT ASKS SCHOOLS TO SET UP MENTAL HEALTH ADVISORY PANEL

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

THE National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) has directed schools to ensure students' mental wellbeing. The directive comes in the wake of a national survey undertaken by the NCERT, in which students flagged schoolwork, examinations as well as the wait for results as some of major causes of anxiety.

The survey also found that students faced difficulty in online schooling and experienced mood swings, a lack of concentration and peer pressure. Based on the findings, the NCERT released guidelines in a report titled Early identification and intervention for mental health problems in school-going children and adolescents.

"Schools are generally seen as spaces where students can grow in a safe and secure environment... It is the school's responsibility to ensure the safety, security, health and well-being of all children in schools and hostels," the guidelines read.

NCERT has asked schools to set up a mental health advisory panel to counsel students. School have also been asked to ensure proper awareness about mental health issues, including introducing mental health programmes that are gender- and age-appropriate.

However, the setting up of a mental health advisory panel in each school recommended on earlier occasions too have failed to achieve the desired results. "While guidelines can be issued, they must be followed by adopting proper policies and arranging funds," said R Vishal, Karnataka Commissioner for Public Instruction.

"School curriculum has been framed in order to ensure mental wellbeing of students, including play learning and Nali Kali methods of learning. However, in terms of addressing mental disorders, schools are ill-equipped. Very few major private schools have school counsellors," the official told this newspaper.

Lives, dam under threat from quarry blasts in Belagavi

SUNIL PATIL @ Belagavi

THE gelatin blasts at stone crushing units in Marikatti and Ganikoppa villages of Bailhongal taluk are not only posing threat to the life of villagers and animals but also to the environment and a water reservoir located close by. Walls of many houses near the units have developed cracks due to the impact of the blasts which are allegedly carried out in violation of the guidelines and conditions set by the mines and geology department. The Harinala dam situated between Navalgatti and Tigadi villages near the units is also facing threat.

The Harinala dam in Tigadi village lies within 5-km radius of the land which experiences vibrations due to the blasting activities. The dam, built over 40 years ago, is the source of drinking water to over 20 surrounding villages. Vitthal Talwar, a gram panchayat member of Marikatti village said that Tigadi, Kallur, Sampaon and some other villages situated downstream of the dam are at high risk. Many farmers have stopped farming in the surrounding areas as the stone dust spreads over crops and causes losses to farmers.

Lokesh Kumar, Deputy Director, Mines and Geology Department, said, "I have come across the violations of terms and guidelines at the stone crushing units. A task force meeting was also held. We have served notices to all 13 stone crushing units at Marikatti and Ganikoppa villages. If they fail to give necessary clarification, the power supply to the units will be snapped," he said.

Retail inflation rises again, hits 7% mark

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

FIVE days after Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman claimed inflation was within manageable levels and that it no longer was a 'red lettered' priority, government data released on Monday showed that retail inflation shot up to 7% in August. The spike, according to data by National Statistics Office, was aided by the sharp rise in the prices of cereals (9.6% up year-on-year) and vegetables (13.33%).

Retail inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, had fallen below 7% in July to 6.71%, giving hope that the Reserve Bank of India's aggressive policy stance may have succeeded in reining in the price rise. However, the August numbers indicate that RBI may have to continue its tight monetary policy. This is the eighth consecutive month that inflation has stayed above RBI's higher tolerance level of 6%.

The finance ministry attributed the uptick in August numbers to an adverse base effect and increase in food and fuel prices. The ministry claimed the results of its measures to control inflation, such as ban on exports of food products and rationalisation of tariff structure of industrial raw material, will show results in the coming weeks and months.

Overall food inflation in August saw a sharp increase of 7.6% compared to 6.7% in July. Non-food inflation marginally fell to 6.6% in August from 6.7% in July.

Analysts attribute high cereal prices to wheat inflation after early heat waves hit production. Now, the government predicts lower rice output due to deficient monsoon in rice-growing areas.

"The sharp jump in food inflation suggests price pressures remain." says Dharmakirti Joshi, chief economist, CRISIL Ltd.

DEMOLITION DRIVE

House owners blame corrupt civic officials

Express anger, allege nexus between babus, netas for encroachment of drains, illegal layouts that caused floods

A bulldozer razes the encroached part of a bulding as part of BBMP's demolition drive at AECS layout in Bengaluru on Monday | EXPRESS

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

STANDING five-storey tall, Sai Krishna Vihar, painted blue, will soon be reduced to rubble. The property, built 12 years ago, was listed for demolition due to the flooding in Mahadevapura zone in August-end and early September. The owner, Govardhana Rao, stood shocked and lashed out at the BBMP, saying notices were not issued to him, and that his property was not built on the drain.

Pulling out tax receipts and his building plan approved by BBMP, he said he has a Rs 1.2 crore loan on the property, and has paid taxes, besides power and water connections, despite which officials are after his building. "If this five-floor building is demolished, we will have nothing left for the family. I have nowhere to go. I am clueless," said a shocked Rao.

Expressing anger over the nexus between officials and politicians that has led to the encroachment of drains and formation of illegal layouts and buildings at AECS Layout, Natesh Gowda, a resident, said the formation of layouts on drains happened many years ago, and the owners who had purchased sites and built homes are innocent. "The government and BBMP are responsible for this encroachment. They (officials) approved the plan, they collected taxes and now they are demolishing our properties without notice. Innocent people are suffering," said Gowda. He questioned why no official has been pulled up, suspended, questioned or served notice.

Anil Reddy, another resident, defended the drive and even lauded area MLA Aravind Limbavali, terming him 'Bulldozer Baba of Karnataka'. "We were upset and had protested as many homes were flooded during the recent rain. There are encroachments on drains, which led to flooding. We want our layout to be free of encroachments. Officials said they will carry out the drive on Tuesday as well," said Reddy.

ORRCA MEMBERS DEMAND SEPARATE ZONE

The members of Outer Ring Road Companies Association (ORRCA) have sought that the government declare 17 km of the ORR stretch and adjoining areas as a separate municipal zone. The members said the same proposal was made at last week's meeting between IT-BT Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan and heads of multinational and tech companies. The demand follows the flooding and damage to property from the recent rain in the city. However, the members were unable to explain how the declaration of a separate zone would ensure that there is no flooding. They demanded that the zone should have a clear five-year plan to transform their hub into a world technology corridor.

Won't spare anyone: Tushar

ENS @Bengaluru

TAKING a tough stand against encroachments in the wake of the recent flooding in parts of the city, BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Monday said that no encroachers will be spared, even if people approach the High Courts.

He said that the BBMP is following the courts' directions, so cases can be filed and hearings will continue, and clearance of encroachments will also continue. He added that the courts will also see what the BBMP is doing and that its orders are being followed.

Speaking to reporters, he said detailed instructions have been issued to officials to clear encroachments on storm water drains and lakes. The exercise and demolishing drive is being done as per court order chronology.

He said that notices have been served to those who have encroached drains and lakes, as these properties stand on revenue department land. No notices have been served to those which stand on footpaths and roads, as these are BBMP properties and have been illegally occupied.

On the question of maps that are being shown by people and the ones which were produced before the courts, Girinath clarified that the original survey maps were being verified and the ones which have been approved by the government and courts are being used as the base. On the issue of builders approaching the Lokayukta, Girinath said people can do so, and accordingly action will be taken. On the issue of criminal cases filed so far, he said they can be filed and heard at Karnataka Land Grabbing Prohibition Special Courts.

'Went ahead as per orders'

REDDY said eight properties were identified for demolition in Maruthi Layout near AECS Layout and residents were informed about it on Saturday. "We faced objections from some owners, but we went ahead as we have directions from our seniors and the Karnataka High Court," Muni Reddy said.

Chief Engineer Basavaraj Kabade, who was monitoring the drive, said, "Today, only compound walls and gates were demolished and after serving a notice under Section 104 of Karnataka Land Revenue Act, the BBMP will ask the house owners to vacate as our JCB will raze the walls and pillars that stand on drains and in buffer zones. No encroacher, be it VVIPs, will be spared."

The BBMP also released a list of 15 big names including IT Parks, New Horizon College, Wipro, realty firms like Gopalan, and Aadarsh that have allegedly encroached the SWDs. Confirming it, Trilok Chandra said the names on the list are only of encroachers on SWDs and that clearance of encroachments on lakes will start after this. Interestingly, Mohammed Nalapad, President, Indian Youth Congress, Karnataka, had protested in front of Eco-Space after the heavy flooding.

Court takes stock of lake encroachment

THE petitioner has also brought to the notice of the court that the direction issued by a division bench of the high court in an order dated June 18, 2019, was not complied with even after 18 months having passed. In the order, the court had directed the State Government and the BBMP to carry out a survey of SWDs and removal of encroachments. While doing so, the court had granted six weeks time to both the State Government and the BBMP to place on record the steps taken for implementation of the said directions. However it was not complied with, the applicant told the court through her counsel G R Mohan. Meanwhile, responding to directions issued in an order dated July 15 and 20, 2022, designated officers of Subramanyapura Lake and Begur Lake filed a compliance affidavit before the court on Monday. As per the affidavit, 81 private encroachments were found on Begur Lake of which 33 have been removed.

With regard to Subramanyapura Lake, it is pointed out that the land measuring one acre and 17 guntas is being utilised for the purpose of a link road and there is encroachment of 3 acres and 39 guntas by slum dwellers. It was pointed out that the removal of encroachment by the slum dwellers has to be done by the Slum Clearance Board. The court then directed the Executive Engineer of the Slum Board to appear before it on October 12, 2022.

As for Puttenahalli Lake, it was pointed out that despite instructions, Executive Engineer of Bommanahalli Division of BBMP has not submitted the compliance report. Despite the July 20, 2022 order, neither any action has been taken for removal of encroachment nor a compliance report has been submitted following which the court directed the Executive Engineer concerned to appear before it on next date of hearing.

HC notice to state, others on Comed-K's fee refund policy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Monday issued notice to the state government, UGC, Comed-K and others, after hearing a PIL filed against alleged arbitrariness in 'Refund and Penalties' Clause of Comed-K's Counselling Process Document notified on July 26, 2022.

A division bench of Acting Chief Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty issued notice after hearing the plea filed by advocate NP Amrutesh, who challenged the condition, apart from seeking directions to COMED-K to implement Refund Policy as stated in its prospectus.

"If a candidate whose name is in the final list, fails to join/report and continue studying in the allotted college, he/she will forfeit the entire tuition fee, including other fees paid at the Comed-K level, since the candidate has deprived an opportunity of getting allotted a seat to the next best/merited candidate, thereby blocking a seat, and the candidate is also liable to pay a penalty of five times of the fee," the petitioner said, quoting the document.

The notice was also issued to Principal Secretary, Higher Education Department, Karnataka Examination Authority, Admission Overseeing Committee for Engineering Colleges in Karnataka, Karnataka Unaided Private Engineering Colleges Association, All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) and Comed-K.

Alleging that Comed-K is not following guidelines issued by the UGC and AICTE, with regard to admission of students to undergraduate courses in various engineering colleges across the state, the petitioner stated that the managements/administrations are exploiting students and their parents by collecting hefty fees, apart from levying fines and penalising them under different heads.

The petitioner added that the Comed-K declares that there is no reservation for SC/ST/OBC students, which is directly against the special provisions for reservation in the matter of admission to professional courses in private institutions, and the same is guaranteed under Article 15 (4) of the Constitution. Hence, the court should intervene in this mater too, the petitioner prayed.

13th September: The celestial tension mounts, but so does the sense that a change is imminent. We may all feel bugged by partners who seem to be standing in our way, but look at it like this: what they're really trying to do is point out the perfectly reasonable practical considerations. In my opinion, if we take good advice on board, we'll all be ready to achieve great things!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
One set of planetary patterns is reckless, another is optimistic. The end result could be interesting to say the least! If you feel like taking a moderate risk then go ahead, as long as your timing is right and you've consulted all the experts. After all, sometimes life is just too short to stay in one place.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Challenging relationships between Mercury and a number of other planets mean that you may be forced to shift your position a little this week. In fact, you may as well give a mile as an inch, and resolve a long-term difficulty while you're about it.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Everything revolves around your attitudes and opinions. The big question is, are you prepared to be more flexible? If not, you may find that you lose the advantage and perhaps sacrifice a friendship. The last thing you want to do now is drift apart from somebody who has been so special.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Jealousy is not a pleasant emotion, but you do find it far too easy to become envious of others' apparently marvellous situations. Stop for a moment and think about just exactly how much you have going for you. Perhaps, you might discover, they think it's you who has got it made!

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
You may be on tenterhooks as generous Jupiter approaches a fresh relationship with your chart. You're on a long-term cycle of emotional exploration and it's possible that you're already looking forward to an engagement that's not scheduled to take place until next year.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You can pay a bit more attention than usual to professional qualms and queries. You're bound to feel a little emotional about your place in the world, but nothing will suffice except commonsense and an appreciation of reality. Just because other people have their heads in the clouds, that doesn't mean that you should join them.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Surprises await. I cannot promise that everything will be easy, but I can assure you that in amongst the thorns, roses will bloom. Be patient and wait until next week for the real magic, though. But, then, at the risk of sounding trite, magic is all around you - all you have to do is look.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
May I remind you that pride is one of the seven deadly sins? I'm pointing this out now because you're currently quite prepared to listen to other people, but I hope you'll remember this piece of advice in about a month's time when you'll be convinced you're number one.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You are having to do a tricky juggling act, and it seems as if you have taken on one commitment too many. You must decide what is to go and what is to stay. If you don't make up your mind, then the choice may be made for you. And if that happens then you may not be able to influence the outcome.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
I know that when events move fast it may all be a little scary, but everything in astrology comes in phases. If you deal well with current tension then you'll be in an ideal position to enjoy relaxed conditions next month. You may also be feeling somewhat more affluent.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
As things are starting to go right in one area, you may imagine that they are starting to run off course in another. Perhaps you've been doing something wrong: it's important not to bend the rules at this stage, at least not until you can see the lie of the land.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
One particular disagreement does not want to go away, however much you wish it would! It's not in your nature to grit your teeth and carry on, so do what you can to make sure that everyone sees that peace and harmony are the fundamental conditions for a happy world.

Bescom to HC: Steps taken to shift 2,588 transformers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BANGALORE Electricity Supply Company Ltd (Bescom) has informed the Karnataka High Court that steps have been taken to shift 2,588 transformers from footpaths, out of the total 5,784 in the city.

In an affidavit filed before a division bench of Acting Chief Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty, the Bescom stated that shifting of 1,155 transformers out of 2,588 was in progress as on September 9, 2022 and work orders have been issued for shifting the remaining 1,433 transformers. In the first phase, Bescom shifted 3,194 transformers.

The court was hearing a public interest litigation (PIL) filed by Wing Commander (retd) G B Athri seeking directions to Bescom to take steps to shift transformers and other electrical installations from footpaths in a time-bound manner as it posed serious danger to pedestrians.

The court then directed the power supply agency to file a status report on the steps taken by January 9, 2023.

Auto driver, beggar killed in separate cases

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TWO murders were reported in the city's North division police limits on Sunday night.

In Peenya limits, two auto drivers clashed over a trivial issue. Ajay stabbed his friend Siddique (23), three times with a knife around 11.30 pm Sunday, near Jalahalli Cross in Peenya police station limits. Siddique was shifted to hospital and died during treatment.

It is said that Ajay had parked his auto near Jalahalli Cross and was waiting for passengers. Siddique, who lived in RT Nagar, came to the auto stand, passed a remark about Ajay, while asking for drinking water. Angered over the remark, Ajay picked a fight with Siddique, and as the argument heated up, Ajay stabbed Siddique. Police arrested Ajay, and Peenya police registered a case.

In another incident, the body of a beggar with injuries on his head was found near Pipeline Road in Yeshwantpur limits. The victim was last seen with another beggar, who is now a suspect. The identities of the victim and suspect are being ascertained.

Yeshwantpur police suspect that the murder could have been committed over sharing of the collection money. CCTV footage in the vicinity shows the victim with another beggar. Investigations are on.

Woman who sold beer illegally, killed by customer

ENS @ Bengaluru

A 45-year-old woman, who used to sell beer illegally at her condiments store to make some quick money, paid a heavy price when one of her customers murdered her for gain. The customer and his two associates, including a minor boy, were arrested by Ramanagara police.

The victim was identified as Kempamma, a resident of Ramanagara. They murdered Kempamma around 4.45pm on September 8, when she had gone to bring back her cattle left for grazing. After killing her, they robbed her of the gold ornaments she was wearing. They packed the body in a plastic bag and threw it into the Arkavathy lake. When she did not return home, her husband, Kenchappa (50), called her. The mobile rang twice or thrice, and was later switched off. Suspecting foul play, Kenchappa and his sons went in search of her, and saw a plastic bag on the lake bed. When they untied the bag, they found Kempamma's body. The accused, after pushing her down from behind, had strangled her to death with a wire. They were identified as G Lingaraju, 19, C Ravi, 20, residents of Achalu Colony who were working in private factories. The third accused is a minor aged 17. Police recovered Rs 51,000 worth of gold ornaments and a mobile phone from them.

CRACKDOWN BEGINS, ALL RAJAKALUVES TO BE CLEARED: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE blame for the deluge in Bengaluru lies squarely at the door of those who have encroached natural drains, also called rajakaluves. The government has decided to crack down on encroachers and clear the encroachments.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai affirmed that all encroachments on rajakaluves will be cleared, even if the properties belong to influential IT/BT companies. There is no question of selective enforcement as far as removal of encroachments is concerned. Eviction notices had been served on those who had raised structures or houses on rajakaluves, blocking the free flow of water, Bommai told reporters in Vidhana Soudha on Monday.

Revenue Minister R Ashoka also said that all properties that had encroached storm water drains and natural waterways would be cleared. He explained that when rainwater drains into rajakaluves, this natural flow ensures there are no floods.

Bommai said the recent floods had affected not only IT/BT companies and their employees, but common people living in low-lying areas too.

Replying to a question, Bommai said the government has sought direction from courts, which will be apprised of the situation. Courts have issued several directions in connection with flood-related cases in the past, and this time, encroachments will be removed on a mega scale, he added.

> There is no need to issue a notice for the removal of encroachments on lakes and canals. It can be cleared without notice. Action will be taken against anyone who illegally encroaches the drains. We are continuously removing encroachments

> R Ashoka, Revenue Minister

On removal of encroachments on rajakaluves in Mahadevapura and Bommanahalli zones, Ashoka said, "There is no need to issue notice for removal of encroachments on lakes and canals. It can be cleared without notice. Action will be taken against anyone who illegally encroaches the drains. We are continuously removing encroachments. The administration should remove encroachments without discrimination." Officials have been instructed to clear encroachments and follow the eviction process. MLA Satish Reddy said, "Encroachments are being cleared in more than 20 places in my constituency. It doesn't matter if it's an IT park or house. If the owners are poor, we will make alternative arrangements for them." BDA, Society Layout and Golf Club have also encroached many lakes, which are artificially filled up with debris and turned into layouts.

BJP to use teachers' job scam to counter Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WHILE the Congress is all set to attack the BJP government with charges of corruption in the ongoing session, the BJP is preparing to counterattack the opposition. Armed with the case related to alleged irregularities in the recruitment of 14 teachers in 2014-15 during the tenure of Siddaramaiah, the ruling party is preparing to put the Congress in a tight spot.

Government sources said the alleged irregularities in the teachers' recruitment are currently being probed by the Criminal Investigation Department (CID), which has arrested 13 people, including an education department official. "As per the preliminary probe conducted by the director of the secondary education board, it is established that there are irregularities in the recruitment of high school teachers (grade-2) and physical education teachers (grade-1) in 2014-15. As many as 14 teachers were recruited though they did not have the required qualification while a few of them had not even appeared for the exams," a source said.

The BJP has decided to attack the Congress, particularly former CM Siddaramaiah, using the same, as the opposition has planned to embarrass BJP by making several allegations of corruption, including the 40% commission allegation by contractors in the ongoing session.

BJP state chief and Dakshina Kannada MP Nalin Kumar Kateel speaks at a party meeting in Mysuru on Monday | UDAYASHANKAR S

We are not against minorities, says Kateel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

AHEAD of the 2023 Assembly polls, BJP is reaching out to the minorities and sending out a message that is not against the community. Party state president Nalinkumar Kateel said here on Monday that Congress is responsible for the backward status of the minorities, but BJP believes in inclusive politics and respects all who believe in the nation. Pointing out that it was BJP that elected Abdul Kalam as President, trade union leader George Fernandes as defence minister and minority community members as governors, he said the party respects those working for the country and opposes those raising pro-Pakistan slogans.

The BJP government released Rs 50 crore for the welfare of minorities, came out with the laws against triple talaq, launched the Rohini scheme, funded Haj pilgrimage and conducted skill development programmes, he said. Minorities are joining the party, while Congress that touts itself as the protector of the community has only worked for the development of Gandhis, he said. Earlier, even an electric pole contesting on a Congress ticket could win, but now, even Rahul Gandhi had to shift from Amethi to Wayanad. Former CM Siddaramaiah had to contest from Badami, while tasting a defeat in Chamundeshwari, he said. BJP merged Jana Sangh with Janata Party to fight Congress and has never compromised on nationalism, he said.

Pointing out to party leaders on the dais, he said none of them are from political families, while nepotism rules in Congress.

PSI scam: Congress seeks action against BJP MLA

ENS @ Bengaluru

CONGRESS on Monday urged the police to register a First Information Report (FIR) against BJP MLA Basavaraj Dadesugur and probe his alleged involvement in the police sub-inspectors (PSI) recruitment scam.

Congress leaders Priyank Kharge and Shivaraj Tangadagi questioned as to why the government has not taken any action against the MLA even when evidence points to his involvement. Congress released a video clip, in which a person claiming to be the father of a PSI job aspirant says that in August 2020 he paid Rs 15 lakh to the BJP MLA who had promised a job for his son. He also accuses the MLA of not returning the money.

Kharge said no notice was issued and no case was registered against the MLA, while Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai did not even question him. Tangadagi said 15 youth from the Kanakagiri Assembly constituency had paid money to get PSI jobs and there should be a probe.

State Congress Legal Cell president AS Ponnanna said the admission made by (the father of the job aspirant) and available material show a prima facie case under the Prevention of Corruption Act. "When they can issue a notice to Priyank Kharge, who is a whistleblower, it is not correct to keep silent about a person who admitted to receiving money," he said.

The BJP MLA, however, rubbished the allegations and termed it as an attempt to tarnish his image. Bommai said he is not aware of any audio or video. A probe will be ordered if any wrongdoing is found, he said.

The 12-day monsoon session of the Legislature commenced on Monday and is expected to be a stormy one | EXPRESS

Houses to discuss floods for 2 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

BOTH Houses of the Legislature, which are in session from Monday, will discuss floods and related woes across the state, especially in Bengaluru, for two to three days from Tuesday and in the end, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai will give the government's reply on Thursday.

On Monday, Opposition Congress members demanded at the Business Advisory Committee (BAC) that the government allow the discussion on floods. The government agreed for two days of discussion with a possible extension of one more day if more legislators want to present their views.

While Congress has slammed the government for its failure to prevent flooding in Bengaluru by clearing encroachments on stormwater drains, BJP has hit back saying it was during the Siddaramaiah government that constructions on storm water drains were allowed.

During the session, the government is proposing to table 15 bills, while opposition members said that not more than two pieces of legislation should be tabled and enough time should be allotted for proper discussions. The Karnataka Land Revenue Act, establishment of Bengaluru transport authority, amendment to the Karnataka Gram Swaraj and Panchayat Raj Bill are among the bills that are likely to be moved.

Congress leaders, meanwhile, are gearing up to attack the state government on irregularities in police sub-inspector recruitment, 40 per cent commission as alleged by the Contractors' Association and failure to give succour to people in flood-affected areas.

To corner Siddu, BJP seeks Lokayukta probe into Hublot watch case

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

WITH the monsoon session of the legislature commencing on Monday, BJP legislators are all set to raise the Hublot watch gift case that had created a political turmoil during Siddaramiah's tenure as CM in 2016. BJP legislators are likely to demand that the government hand over the case to the Lokayukta. The Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB), which was abolished recently, had given a clean chit to the Congress leader.

BJP seems to be trying hard to corner Siddaramaiah even as the CLP leader continues to target the Bommai government over the 40% commission allegations among other issues.

During the recent Janaspandana event at Doddaballapura, CM Basavaraj Bommai and BJP state chief Nalin Kumar Kateel had said the party would expose all the scams of the Siddaramaiah-led Congress government.

BJP MLC N Ravikumar said 29 complaints were filed before ACB against Siddaramiah, but no FIR was filed. "None of us know the exact reason behind someone gifting an expensive watch. It was handed over to the state treasury. But the case was not taken to its logical end. We want a detailed probe" he said. He said the case was hushed up. "It has to be clarified... Who gifted the watch and why? Is there any reason behind it ? Why would someone randomly give an expensive watch to the CM? There are many such unanswered questions," he added.

CLP leader Siddaramaiah speaks during the session on Monday | EXPRESS

Another BJP leader said the Lokayukta was dismantled to cover up the scams of the Siddaramaiah rule. "We will raise the issue in the session. If a Lokayukta probe is ordered, it has to come to the cabinet. We will take it to its logical conclusion," the BJP leader added.

One month after its constitution in 2016, the ACB had received a complaint against Siddaramaiah seeking a probe into the Hublot episode.

Siddaramaiah had claimed that he had received the watch as a gift from his NRI doctor friend Dr Girish Chandra Varma.

BJP will probe irregularities during Siddu rule, says Kateel

Mysuru: BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kateel on Monday said the state government will order a probe into the alleged corruption and other scams during the previous Congress government in the state. Accusing former chief minister Siddaramaiah of covering up the scams during his rule, Kateel said BJP will bring those involved in the scams to book. Claiming that BJP, while in opposition, had raised its voice against corruption cases in the Siddaramaiah government, Kateel said if Siddaramaiah were to be a true socialist, he should have quit and ordered a probe, Kateel also hit out at Wayanad MP Rahul Gandhi for his allegations against the NDA government over the Rafael jet deal. "He has been exposed as there is no substance in the charges," he said. ENS

'Beware of your own partymen'

Bengaluru: The BJP has warned Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah that his own party leaders DK Shivakumar, Dr G Parameshwara and Mallikarjun Kharge are trying to lay a trap for him as he had allegedly snubbed them politically in the past. "@ siddaramaiah himself, should first get rid of the fear within the Congress party. DK Shivakumar, Kharge, Parameshwara are on tiptoe to drop you into a 'Khedda'. It is because of your act in 2013.....," the party tweeted. ENS

Will expose Rs 8,000 crore land grabbing scam in Bengaluru: HDK

'DON'T CELEBRATE HINDI DIWAS'

HD Kumaraswamy said the state government should not celebrate Hindi Diwas on September 14. In a letter to CM Bommai, he said the taxpayers' money should not be wasted on the event. "India was formed by joining 560 provinces. It is not fair to exhibit love or special attention to one language (Hindi). It is injustice to the people of Karnataka to make them celebrate Hindi Diwas forcibly," he stated.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

SENIOR JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy on Monday alleged that the government has begetted a Rs 8,000 crore scam in Bengaluru which will be the biggest such land grabbing case in the state. The issue will be brought up during the ensuing legislature session, he added.

"BJP used to target me by asking me to produce documents. I will do so soon, and expose how the government, through an order, is going to illegally hand over government lands to bigwigs in Bengaluru," he said after the JDSLP meeting.

He sought the cooperation of Congress as bigwigs are eyeing prime properties in the IT capital. "It was a matter of concern since 1957 and in 2008-09, the property was valued at Rs 5,000 crore. The recent government order to help land grabbers is shocking," he said.

On the 40 per cent commission allegation made by the contractors' association, Kumaraswamy said he has advised his MLAs to speak in the House only if they have evidence.

Kumaraswamy said he ensured that a detailed representation on the flooding of Bengaluru-Mysuru Express Highway reached Union Minister for Roads and Highways Nitin Gadkar. "He did not give me an appointment when I was in New Delhi and a memorandum was presented when he was in Bengaluru," he said, and hinted that this issue too will be raised in the session.

Horatti, Malkapure in race for Chairman post

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

WITH the notification for the posts of Chairman and Deputy Chairman of the Karnataka Legislative Council likely to be issued in a day or two, there are brisk political developments in the BJP, which has a majority in the Upper House and can clinch both posts.

Interim chairman and two-time MLC Raghunath Rao Malkapure has emerged frontrunner for the Chairman's post. Since he hails from the backward Kuruba community, it is likely to send a message that the party is with them. Since community member and former RDPR minister K S Eshwarappa is out of the cabinet and expansion is not likely to happen soon, Malkapure is a serious contender for the post. He was also in the running for a cabinet berth, a source informed.

But former JDS MLC Basavaraj Horatti, who won Karnataka Northwest Teachers' seat for a record eighth time, switched to the BJP from the JDS in May 2022, as he was assured the post of Chairman.

If BJP sticks to its promise, the 76-year-old Lingayat leader is likely to get the Chairman's post, especially as CM Basavaraj Bommai is in his favour. In that case, Malkapure will be chosen deputy chairman, in place of former deputy chairman M K Pranesh, a Vokkaliga. The BJP legislature party meeting, scheduled for Tuesday evening, is likely to take a final call.

Katti did not want to divide state: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE 10-day monsoon session of the Legislature commenced on Monday with both Houses mourning the demise of minister Umesh Katti and other personalities who passed away in the last six months.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, recalling his association with Umesh Katti, said that he knew him for the last four decades. "Katti used to raise his voice for issues of North Karnataka. He used to demand a statehood for North Karnataka. But he did not have the intention to divide Karnataka," he said. Katti had deep knowledge of irrigation, cooperative and even power sectors. "The state government will take steps to realise his memories," he added.

Both Houses of the Legislature on Monday paid tributes to former minister Umesh Katti (left) and Queen Elizabeth II who passed away last week

Leader of Opposition and Congress leader Siddaramaiah said Katti served as minister since JH Patel's tenure as CM. He won eight times under six different symbols, Siddaramaiah said. "He was known for his sense of humour and friendly nature. During the 2018 polls, when I was in Belagavi to campaign, though he was associated with a different political party, he insisted that I come to his house for lunch and spend time with him," Siddaramaiah recalled.

In the Council, several members recalled the moments they shared with Katti. Opposition leader BK Hariprasad said Katti's dedication towards Belagavi's development was unquestionable.

Former minister Laxman Savadi, Katti's close friend, said Katti issued statements demanding a statehood for North Karnataka so that there will be some improvement in the region but he never wanted a separate state.

The Houses also mourned the death of to Queen Elizabeth II, former minister M Raghupathi, former MLC MD Ramesh Raju, singer Shimoga Subbanna, noted writer Prof Kodi Kushalappagowda, Dr Gururaj Hebbar, and santoor player Pandit Shivkumar Sharma.

Working in tandem, Wildlife Crime Control Bureau (WCCB) and TN Forest Department officials seized 35 kg sea cucumber near the Pamban railway bridge at Mandapam in Ramanathapuram on July 21.

AIADMK HQ row: SC bins OPS plea

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi/Salem

FORMER Tamil Nadu CM O Paneerselvam on Monday suffered a huge setback as Supreme Court dismissed his petition challenging the Madras High Court's decision of handing over the possession of AIADMK headquarters to party's interim Secretary General Edappadi K Palaniswami.

A bench comprising Justices DY Chandrachud and Hima Kohli said, "Merely because 2 factions of political parties behave in a rowdy manner, you cannot go and ask for attachment. Attaching the office of political party has far-reaching consequences and it's not like disputes between neighbours. Attaching the office of political parties is extreme, we cannot allow it," the bench observed while upholding HC's order.

The court further said, "You can't disable a political party from functioning by attaching. Allow democracy to work. Nothing untoward has happened in the last 2 months."

HC's order had come after a plea by EPS challenging the RDO's order. Allowing the plea, the Madras HC on July 20, 2022 had directed the RDO to hand over the keys of the headquarters to EPS and the police to for protection so that no untoward incident takes place.

"Therefore, to initiate the proceedings under Section 145 CrPC, there must be a real dispute in respect of the land or immovable property. Therefore, mere creating a dispute on the date of the proceedings by creating a warlike situation, it cannot be said that there is an actual dispute existing in respect of the party office," the HC had said. Earlier, a bench led by former CJI NV Ramana had refused to stay HC's order.

Truth has triumphed: EPS

Reacting to the verdict, AIADMK interim general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami said, "I welcome Supreme Court's judgment in the matter of handing over keys of the AIADMK headquarters to us. Truth, dharma, and justice have triumphed. I have been elected as interim general secretary of the party," he said.

Rain havoc in Karwar kills 1

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @Karwar

HEAVY rain over the last three days in Uttara Kannada left one person dead when the wall of his house collapsed in Yellapur taluk. Heavy downpour also triggered a landslide and brought normal life to a grinding halt.

The heavy downpour have forced people in Uttara Kannada to either resort to using their rain gear or stay indoors. Chandrashekar Narayan Hesslar was sleeping in his house when the wall caved in at midnight at Kyadgi village in midnight, and he was trapped under the rubble.

According to the local police, the wall of the house had become weak under the battering of heavy rain and high velocity winds. Residents gathered around the house and immediately Hesslar was shifted to the taluk hospital. Doctors there suggested he should be shifted to Shivamogga immediately, but he died en route. Tahsildhar Santosh Bhandari and other officials visited the spot.

Meanwhile, a landslide was reported at Honnavar's Mavinkurve. Local authorities said there has been no death. The road remained blocked for several hours until it was cleared later in the evening. # OPPOSITION UNITY MOVES FUMBLE OVER CONGRESS RELATIONS

Rahul Gandhi's Kanyakumari-to-Kashmir Bharat Jodo Yatra and Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's opposition unity campaign have gotten off to a rocky start. At least three powerful chief ministers—Mamata Banerjee, K Chandrashekhar Rao and Arvind Kejriwal—have expressed reluctance to work with the Congress in the run-up to 2024.

Rao travelled to Patna to persuade Nitish to form a front sans Congress. He argued that people still did not favour it, that regional parties have a stronghold in states, and that together, they could deny the ruling BJP a majority at the Centre. Besides, Rao reportedly pointed out that Congress is in a direct fight with his party Telangana Rashtra Samithi. He said it would be difficult for him to explain in Telangana whether he was fighting the Congress or partnering with it. Rao said the same to former Karnataka CM H D Kumaraswamy who met him in Hyderabad. Kejriwal has also offered similar arguments about working with Congress.

Nitish, however, believes there cannot be any meaningful opposition by excluding the Congress party. He feels that the regional parties cannot win a majority on their own. He has, therefore, favoured a grand alliance of parties not in the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance. Nitish Kumar has not yet met Mamata Banerjee. But she has already made public her views on not allying with the Congress. She had met several opposition leaders, including Nationalist Congress Party chief Sharad Pawar and Shiv Sena head Uddhav Thackeray to forge a non-Congress front. Pawar and Thackeray refused to play ball with Didi, saying the Congress was the BJP's main challenger in many Indian states. They reasoned that the BJP cannot be defeated without help from the Congress. RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav has echoed the views of Pawar, Thackeray and Nitish Kumar. The Congress is in a direct fight with the BJP in over half a dozen states. The party is also in the alliance government headed by Nitish Kumar in Bihar. The Left parties are also part of the Bihar grand alliance. Nitish Kumar is comfortable working with the Left and the Congress. The same can, however, not be said about Mamata, KCR and Kejriwal. These leaders are likely to continue pushing for a non-Congress opposition front.

ALCARAZ, SWIATEK USHER IN REFRESHING CHANGE

The A new champion is born in New York. When Carlos Alcaraz woke up on Monday morning with the US Open trophy, he would have realised he had done something no one had achieved in 50 years. A teen world No 1. That, though, isn't the shock. Sports buffs following men's tennis in the last 18 months or so knew it was just a matter of time. He came in with loads of talent but crucially married that talent with hard work and performance. He had won main draw matches at the tour level as a 16-year-old. Wins in the Grand Slams followed soon after.

The hype train was in overdrive, but unlike other top men's players, he had already won a Major in a blink. What's so exciting about the Spaniard is his ability to make the sport a day-out at the local cinema. His athleticism, shot-making and no-holds-barred approach when tackling the biggest of points have already made him a crowd favourite. Alcaraz is cut from a different cloth. You can already say he's the real deal. The last teen to be this sure of himself on the men's side was perhaps Rafael Nadal more than 15 years ago. The next challenge for him is to show he can do this in a field comprising Novak Djokovic.

While it would not be right to claim that the era of the Big Three is over, you can safely say that the biggest challenge that the troika would encounter is here. There was also the emergence of somebody similar among women, just as Serena Williams seemingly called time on her career. Enter Pole Iga Swiatek, who coasted to a third Major. Unlike in the men's field, the women haven't had a figurehead who has dominated the sport over the last few seasons. That is set to change with Swiatek. The 21-year-old has won two of the last three Slams, and her overall game is well developed to excel on multiple surfaces. Perhaps, Alcaraz, Swiatek and the next-gen players like Casper Ruud and Frances Tiafoe could be the refreshing change tennis has been eagerly waiting for. From the Indian perspective, though, the US Open was the culmination of a disappointing season. None of the players managed to enter the third qualifying round in singles, a fair reflection of the levels we are at right now. Something that needs to change fast.

OF GODS AND GODLY RIGHTS

Perceived legal discrimination between divinity rights is under litigation. The daughter of the Kashi royals has filed an intervening petition in the Supreme Court against the Places of Worship Act, 1991. It argues that exempting Ramjanmabhoomi from the Act's purview amounts to treating Ayodhya owners' rights as superior to those of other Sanatani denominations. It notes that Shiv bhakts' rights to reclaim Varanasi's occupied sites dedicated to Shiva are thus adversely affected. This is an intricate issue as in India, only those deities consecrated and placed in the public domain for the citizenry are considered juristic persons with property rights.

DO YOU WORK TO LIVE OR LIVE TO WORK

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru & Founder, Harish Bijoor Consults Inc

I started work as a Group Management Trainee in a reputed Multinational (MNC) firm decades ago. The training was supposed to be excellent. The work they did seemed to touch many lives in a completely consumerist manner of speaking. Their offerings were ubiquitous. The pay was good. The executive lunchroom dished out food of a completely high quality. And if you worked for an MNC, your path was paved with unimaginable opportunities ahead. I was therefore on the fast track.

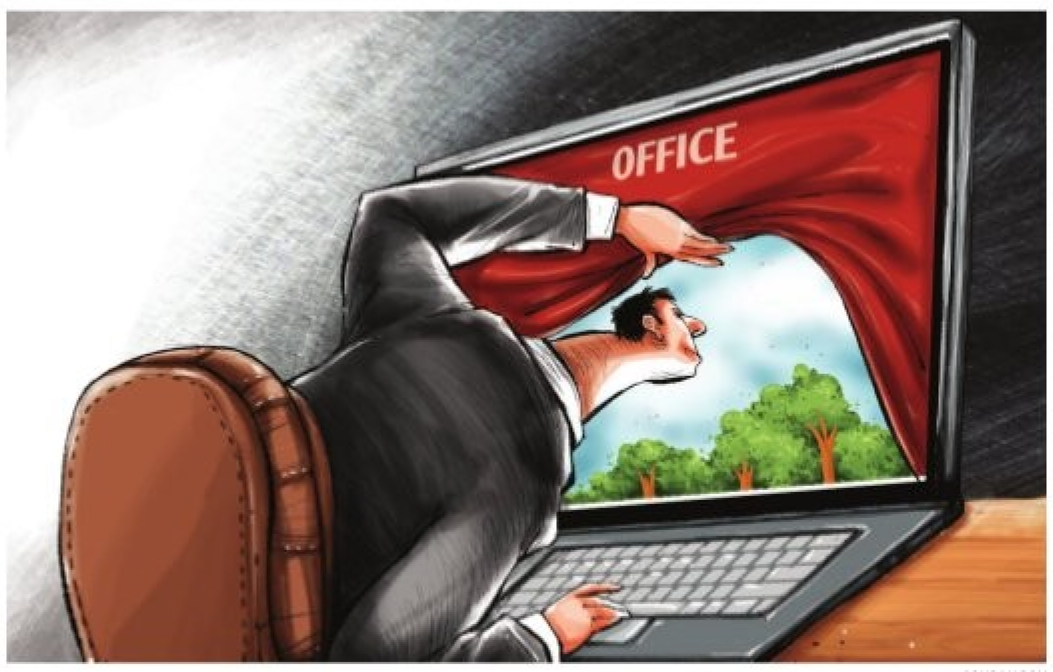
Well, that's what you got when you worked for an MNC. But then you had to give as well. You had give your best. You had to work hard. In the very initial years, the accent was on hard work. Intelligent-work was a buzz-phrase that happened much later. Everyone had to work hard. The GMT had to work hard, just as his or her every boss had to. You had to put in your hours beyond the call of duty. And you had a target.

The ethos was a simple one. The GMT was a rookie, just out of campus. Get him to work hard and learn the trade. Get him to fast track his learning by putting in all those extra hours. At the end of it, there was a pot of gold to win. A pot of gold of work-experience and surely a pot of gold that promised increments, promotions and attendant perquisites. In a manner of speaking, the treadmill was set to run. And it never stopped. If you got off it, you did it at your own peril. At the peril of your career and career growth.

All of us, therefore, worked very hard. We have all done 16-hour work days. And for many years. We have put in our blood into every piece of work, sweated copious buckets of the smelly stuff and have had tears flowing when those increments or promotions did not come. I therefore resonate with the 18-hour work day advise, recently made and quickly apologised-for by the CEO of a shaving company on a social media platform.

Right now there is a trending sentiment that is sweeping Tiktok and Instagram. This sentiment on the sweep is a post-pandemic reality that talks of 'Quiet-Quitting'. What is Quiet-quitting then? A simple post-pandemic re-prioritisation of work versus all else.

The movement simply says that work is what you do and work is not who you are. It's a movement that gets workers across the world to rethink their work-ethos. Do you take on more work than you must? Are you in a rat race? Are you putting in more hours than you must? And must you now quietly do less? Quiet-quitting to that extent is not about quitting at all. It is all about doing a little less at work, re-prioritising work versus life, and refusing to take on more to chew than you are mandated to and must. Nice.



SOURAV ROY

The 16-hour work days that many of us have put in (and as many are even today) are out of fashion. The new age is all about balancing it all. And I like it. I spent an entire lifetime building my career and destroying my body. In many cases, we have spent a lifetime building our career and destroying our relationships. Even as many of us are busy evaluating whether it was and is worth it at all, the reality is that life has no reactive "Undo" button. I wish it had one. But the fact remains that there is a proactive "Do it the new way" button available for all to use. And many have decided to use it.

The Quiet-quitting movement in many ways puts work in its place. It says it all loudly, "Work is work. Work is not life. There's more to life than work." In many ways, employees across the globe are questioning the math of work.

Are you paid for the eight hours, the 16, or does your company own you for all the 24 hours that you have on offer? The math of work, globally, is on the morph. The new work hour in the developed nations of the world is all of 42–58 hours per week. In slightly less developed nations, it hovers around the mark of 70 hours per week. What's it with you?

And the answer to that will define which side of the fence of "hard-work" you sit. The Quiet-quitter is actually questioning not work alone, but items that he engages with right through as an employee. The extra hours on training and development, the hours on networking internally and externally, and more. In many ways, the toxic work culture is out in the open, belly-up for examination. This QQ movement is all about a rebel movement against corporate burnout for sure.

Even as I sum up, I must say—each to their own. Work is worship to some. Work is a life-philosophy to others. Work is a reason to live for some. Work is a means to a salary to others. Work is a shot at making it big for others.

Whatever the reason, to each their own. Just as long as your boss is not forcing (overtly or covertly) you to do what you are doing (putting in those "above and beyond" work hours), all is well. Just as long as you are enjoying it, all is well.

The ultimate test of whether you are enjoying what you are doing at work rests in whether you are happy to get up in the morning and go to work. If, on the other hand, you just don't want to get out of bed on a working day, something is surely wrong. Work that oppresses and depresses is surely part of the toxic work culture all of us need to fight.

From a pure business point of view then, every business needs a portfolio of workers. You need the 16-hour day types, the 12-hour day types and the 8-hour day types. To each their own. Everyone will define for themselves what they want out of life. And work.

The key question to ask is whether you are in a rat-race. Or are you in a horse-race? Or are you in a 'Jallikattu' of your own passion-making?

BRITISH MONARCHY AFTER THE QUEEN

DAVID HARPER

Journalist and Presenter, London

It's lonely at the top. That's become a bit of a cliche, but there are tales from countless world leaders, company CEOs, and even actors and music stars who agree it can be isolating when you reach the heights of your field in life. You can have any number of advisors and assistants in your inner circle, but (in the words of one former US President), 'The buck stops here'.

However, one particular set of leaders has an almost unique arrangement with an influential confidant—someone who is somehow both more and less powerful than they are. British Prime Ministers past and present will agree—I imagine—that their relationship with the monarch is invaluable. You see, every PM has regular private meetings with the head of state, and absolutely everything they discuss is completely private and confidential.

Now, while (in theory at least) the Crown is responsible for passing the country's laws and ruling over the population, the constitutional balance between hereditary and elected leaders is complicated. The whole system depends on the monarch remaining apolitical and not becoming directly involved in day-to-day government. In short, they have huge power over the United Kingdom, but only if they never use it. What this arrangement does bring, though, is a sense of continuity. Queen Elizabeth provided that sense of continuity for more than seventy years—until this week.

In a world where politicians rarely think further ahead than the next election (or, in many cases, any further back than the beginning of their political career) the Queen is the one link that has connected every government since the 1950s. She has privately met with every Prime Minister since Winston Churchill and has been the solid foundation behind every government. Through boom and bust, war and peace, tragedy and celebration. While individual politicians preside over five or ten years in Parliament, the monarch can witness the slow, glacial changes to values, culture and global position that are measured over multiple decades.

That relationship, though, has now been dramatically reset. Liz Truss has become Prime Minister Truss just days before Prince Charles has become King Charles III. Truss may have been coveting her place in Downing Street for some time, but Charles has had possibly the longest apprenticeship of any job in history. He took to the throne at the age of 73. He became heir in 1952 and was formally invested as Prince of Wales in a grand ceremony in 1969. And he's far too astute to have underestimated the task he's taking on. As a Prince, he was an enthusiastic champion of many causes, including charities, environmental issues and conservation. He was also known to have lobbied people of influence, which was not always well received by the British public. As King, though, Charles has already stated that many of his charitable causes will have to take a back seat. He will adapt to the role of a neutral monarch.

AP

> It would be wrong to say that everyone in the country strongly supports the monarchy in the 21st century—even the current Prime Minister was filmed by a TV news crew in her younger years, voicing some quite unfavourable views on the matter. ... many people are already voicing opposition to the continued existence of the royals on social media

This might not come easy to a man who appears to have an inbuilt desire to fight perceived injustices, but for seven decades, he has had the perfect role model on how this should be done.

It would be wrong to say that everyone in the country strongly supports the monarchy in the 21st century—even the current Prime Minister was filmed by a TV news crew in her younger years, voicing some quite unfavourable views on the matter. As I write this, just a couple of days after the national upset of a royal death, many people are already voicing opposition to the continued existence of the royals on social media. And they are likely to become more vocal in the period between Charles becoming King this week and his official coronation—which could be a year or more into the future.

Anyone watching the TV coverage following the death of the Queen can't fail to notice, though, that for the majority, the reaction has been one of shock and sadness. Even people who wouldn't identify as strong supporters of the Royal Family as an institution often express a huge amount of admiration for Queen Elizabeth as a person. She has been a constant presence in the lives of most of the population—you'd need to be at least 75 to remember a time before she ascended to the throne. Just months ago, huge crowds assembled for celebrations to mark her Platinum Jubilee, from large outdoor concerts to small street parties.

The difficulties don't stop in the British Isles. When King Charles first addressed the nation, he referenced his son and daughter-in-law—The Duke and Duchess of Sussex—living in the United States after stepping back from royal duties amid much controversy. There is also a growing desire within many countries that share the British monarch as head of state to become republics. In the Caribbean, in particular, being led by a royal in London is increasingly seen as an unwelcome hangover from the transatlantic slave trade. Initial communications have been positive, though. Even the Prime Minister of Barbados (which became a republic last year) has acknowledged the stability provided by Queen Elizabeth. Many recognised Charles for his role in helping the commonwealth of nations progress from the colonial era into a modern alliance of countries with strong ties.

In the time I have spent working for the BBC World Service, broadcasting to all corners of the world, I've been surprised how many countries and cultures refer to the 'Victorian Era' when describing the art, culture and events of the reign of Queen Victoria between 1837 and 1901. I didn't expect outside of Britain and The Commonwealth to identify periods by relating to British monarchs—certainly not over a century later. I firmly believe we have now come to the end of the Elizabethan era, and I know it will be remembered just as significantly.

Stories for everyone

As always, Renuka Narayanan's column fascinated me. A clear case of common sense (Sept 12) is not just for children but also for those who are young at heart. Such stories teach us a lesson and stay in one's memory. Taking a leaf out of this column, I always try to introduce Panchatantra stories to my daughter so that she is proud of her roots.

Old memories revived

Makarand Paranjape's column, India@75 And Sri Aurobindo's "Three Madnesses" (Sept 12) revived my memories from the 1960s, when one of my professors introduced Sri Aurobindo's teachings to me. Although I am no expert on his teachings, it has helped me a great deal through life's struggles.

Decongesting prisons

Apropos of 'Judicial reforms needed to decongest prisons' (Sept 12). The issue of undertrials was highlighted by CJI N V Ramana towards the end of his tenure. It is heartening to read that Thenku Prasad Banwasi, a poor shepherd, came forward to donate his piece of land for the construction of a water tank so that people can quench their thirst. He has shown that charity begins at home.

Strong and spirited Bharat

Apropos of Muscular nationalism, pugnacious Bharat (Sept 11). My description of the present Bharat is 'strong and spirited'. Non-violence does not save one from violence, just as a rabbit cannot save itself from a lion. But an elephant is strong—it does not have to be violent because no other animal will dare to attack it. India seems to have neglected this principle and paid a heavy price. The Congress was a movement fighting for swaraj. But a few tried to grab the credit for the freedom. It is indeed proper that due credit should be given to forgotten heroes like Shivaji. I feel sorry that Modi critics are not only degrading Modi but our Bharat too!

'Vande Bharat trains will link all mega cities'

THE Railway Ministry under the leadership of Ashwini Vaishnaw has pressed for domestic production of tracks and wheels, thereby giving a fillip to Indian manufacturing sector and businesses. The minister says this is in line with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's call for "Make in India", and his 'Panchpran' (five resolves). Excerpts of his interview with Rajesh Kumar Thakur:

Verbatim

There's a new push by the Railways on the indigenisation front. What is the thinking that has put the ministry in this mode?
In keeping with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 'Panchpran' (five resoles), which also talks of a developed India, the Indian Railway has decided to go for a domestic production of wheels and tracks for high-speed trains. We have already floated a tender to invite domestic manufacturers to make high-quality wheels. The railways will procure 80,000 wheels for the high speed trains per annum worth ₹600 crore for the next 20 years. This is the first time that the railways have invited private players to manufacture wheels. Our aim is to completely substitute imported wheels with locally produced ones. Besides this, we will soon float a tender for private manufacturing of high-strengthen rail tracks. These tracks are currently imported from various countries.

Is there any plan of railway to set up its own factory to meet the shortfall?
The thrust at the moment is to bring in private players into the production of rail wheels and tracks for high speed rail. The railways want the factory to be set up and production started in 18 months with 100% accuracy using the complex forging technology. We have been importing these two components from Europe since 1960 to meet the requirements in LHB or other high speed trains.

Does India have enough quantity of such high quality steel to meet the railways' demand?
Yes, the India has availability of steel of high quality, which can meet our requirements. What we need now is systematic utilisations of all this.

Vande Bharat trains have been your ministry's another focus. How is it coming along?
By August 15, 2023, almost all mega cities of country will be linked with the Vande Bharat trains as per the vision of the PM. Introduction of the modern and high-speed Vande Bharat trains is in line with the Prime Minister's vision of modern and developed India. The train's bogeys use the latest design, air spring system has been fitted which reduces vertical jerks to almost zero, giving maximum level of riding comfort. The content on demand facility in addition to wi-fi facility will be made available to the passengers, so that they are able to watch movies of their own choice on the 32 inch LCD. This train can run even if the tracks are submerged in two feet of water.

There have been safety concerns about high-speed trains. How safe are these trains?
This train has been fitted with anti-collision device-Kavach. All trials have been completed successfully at running at 180kmph. Its serial commercial productions will start from October this year. Its next version will be designed and developed to run up to the 200kmph speed.

Post Covid pandemic, questions have been raised about how safe it was to travel in crowded trains. How do you plan to deal with health concerns?
The rakes of Vande Bharat train have been fitted with photo catalytic ultra air purification system. This system is capable of annihilating germs or any airborne virus and bacteria with 99.9% certainty. This system keeps the anterior ambience of coach disinfected to an optimum level. It is absolutely safe to travel by these trains.

Has this system been developed by railway or imported?
The photo-catalytic ultra air purification system has been developed in the laboratory of DRDO. As per the recommendation of Central Scientific Instrument Organisation (CSIO), Chandigarh, this system has been installed in each rake of Vande Bharat train, so that bacteria, virus and others particles can be filtered and air cleaned 99.9%.

Will this device be installed only in Vande Bharat or other trains too?
This device will also be installed in the AC rakes of other express trains. But in all 400 Vande Bharat trains this system would be in-built.

EYE ON '24: MODI SEEKS SHAKE-UP IN KERALA BJP

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Modi has asked the Kerala unit of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) to reshuffle its core committee and induct new faces, the New Indian Express has learnt.

At a core committee meeting attended by him earlier this month in Kochi, the PM expressed dissatisfaction about the dismal electoral performance of the party in the state. According to a senior leader who attended the meeting, Modi also asked state leaders to recruit prominent leaders from other parties into BJP, a tried and tested strategy of the BJP in states like Madhya Pradesh, Tripura, Maharashtra, and Karnataka among others.

Last week, the BJP central leadership appointed former Union Minister Prakash Javadekar as the state in-charge, as part of its organisational restructure in the run up to 2024 elections. Javadekar has replaced BJP national executive member C P Radhakrishnan who took charge in 2020.

According to sources, though the PM had raised the issue of organisational restructuring earlier too, this time, he wanted to implement the changes at the earliest. "The PM said that the party had not seen any growth in the state despite having favourable conditions," said the leader.

Modi reportedly said that he has been seeing the same faces in the core committee for the last many years and induction of new members is imperative to change the fortune of the party in the state. The 10- member core committee consists of senior members such as O Rajagopal, Union Minister V Muraleedharan, state president K Surendran, Kummanam Rajashekhran, and P K Krishnadas among others.

'Easier said than done'

Some senior BJP leaders, who had attended the meeting with PM, told this newspaper that despite PM's insistence on recruiting leaders from other parties, it's easier said than done

However, some senior BJP leaders, who had attended the meeting with PM, told this newspaper that despite PM's insistence on recruiting leaders from other parties, it's easier said than done. "No prominent leader from Congress or CPM will join BJP as they know that it will end his/her political future," one leader said.

Speaking to the TNIE, BJP state president K Surendran said that the details of the meeting cannot be divulged. He, however, admitted that the PM discussed expansion plan of the party. He maintained that there was no plan to reshuffle the core committee.

A core committee member M T Ramesh told TNIE that he didn't attend the core committee meeting as he was indisposed with Covid.

The faction ridden ties between the state BJP' and its ideological mentor RSS is another factor which hurt the prospects of the party in the state. "Now with Javadekar presiding over the affairs of the state, we expect to see some positive changes," said an RSS leader.

Women in hijab not caricatures, SC told

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

STUDENTS challenging Karnataka HC's verdict of upholding ban of hijab on Monday told the Supreme Court that women wearing hijab must not be looked upon as caricatures but must be looked upon with dignity.

"Women who wear hijab must not be looked upon as caricatures. They must be looked upon with dignity. They are strong-willed women and they feel they have got the power because of this. Nobody can impose their judgments on them," said senior advocate Yusuf Mucchala. He also urged the bench of justices Hemant Gupta and Sudhanshu Dhulia to refer the matter to a constitution bench.

Referring to certain documents highlighting violation of the Muslim girls right to violation due to non-acceptance of their cultural and religious rights, the senior advocate said, "Merely for wearing a piece of cloth over head, education cannot be denied."

It was also the senior advocate's contention that denial of entry to the students wearing hijab had resulted in violation of the fundamental right to access education, personal dignity, privacy as well as right to practice religion.

Justice Gupta said that the HC merely said that the right to conscience and the right to practice religion were mutually exclusive. During the hearing, Mucchala had contended that the HC should not have gone into the interpretation of the Quran. Responding to his arguments, the bench said that the HC had no choice but to do so since it was argued that wearing of hijab was an essential religious practice.

"Constitution clearly provides that the court should not lay down religion for people to follow, and the court should not interpret religious scriptures," Mucchala had said.

Senior advocate Salman Khurshid had also said that wearing hijab was a matter of religion, culture, conscience, culture and dignity.

"We will not say uniform must be dispensed with but there is something in addition with the uniform which should be permitted," Khurshid had also said.

J&K encounter: SC junks plea seeking exhumation

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

NOTING that once a body is buried, it should not be disturbed, the Supreme Court on Monday rejected a plea by the father of Amir Magrey, who was killed in an encounter between the police and militants in Hyderpora to exhume his son's body for last rites.

A bench of Justices Surya Kant and JB Pardiwala said that the body was buried with dignity and that was nothing to indicate that the body was dealt with in any manner insulting or hurting family's religious feelings.

Upholding J&K HC's order of allowing the family to perform religious rites but declining to grant permission to disinter the body of the deceased for the purpose of religious rituals, the bench said,

"After a body has been buried, it is considered to be in the custody of the law; therefore, disinterment is not a matter of right. The disturbance or removal of an interred body is subject to the control and direction of the court. The law does not favour disinterment, based on the public policy that the sanctity of the grave should be maintained. Once buried, a body should not be disturbed. A court will not ordinarily order or permit a body to be disinterred unless there is a strong showing of necessity that disinterment is within the interests of justice. Each case is individually decided, based on its own particular facts and circumstances."

Noting that India has no legislation relating to exhumation expect one provision in the Code of Criminal Procedure, the Court asked the Centre to consider enacting an appropriate law on exhumation.

Depsang & Demchok in focus after Gogra pullout

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

ARMY Chief General Manoj Pande affirmed the schedule of the Ministry of External Affairs on Monday and said that the disengagement at Gogra-Hotsprings (Patrolling Point 15) was on time. With this, the focus now shifts to standoffs at Depsang and Demchok.

General Manoj Pande said, ""I will have to go and take stock. But, it (disengagement process) is going as per schedule, and what was decided." Gen Pande was speaking on the sidelines of a seminar on Army logistics at Manekshaw Centre.

The MEA had said on September 9 that the disengagement process will be completed by September 12.

Army Chief Gen Manoj Pande on Sunday reviewed Exercise Parvat Prahar while the disengagement continued at Line of Actual Control (LAC)

With this the standoffs existing at Galwan, North and South Banks of Pangong Tso, Gogra and Hotsprings are complete. India and China announced on September 8 that the Indian and Chinese troops in the area of Gogra-Hotsprings (PP-15) had begun to disengage in a coordinated and planned way, "which is conducive to the peace and tranquility in the border areas." Meanwhile, the standoff continues at Depsang and Demchok in Eastern Ladakh and calling the standoff sensitive the uniformed personnel cautioned to desist from calling them a legacy issue as it's "not right".

Keeping the time of occurrence of the standoffs at Depsang (2013) and CNN in Demchok (2018) these are addressed at times as legacy issues.

"A standoff is a standoff and it seems we are letting it pass as a not so important issue which is not right," said a senior officer asking not to give his name. As reported earlier by this newspaper, "The Chinese troops are pitched at the Y-Junction in Depsang which is about 20-km from strategic airfield Daulat Beg Oldi (DBO). With this, the PLA is blocking around 100 sq km in this area as Indian troops are unable to patrol at points 10, 11, 11A, 12 & 13 (average distance between points 10-15 kms).

The Sub Sector North, of which Depsang is a part, is strategically most important. The terrain is such that large-scale armour operations are possible. China has multiple roads feeding this area while India has only the Darbuk-Shyok-DBO road. Also, according to the sources, this brings PLA troops closer to India's strategic road DSDBO Road.

The other standoff remains at the Charding Nonong Nallah in Demchok with around three tends pitched across. The LAC passes through CNN.

Gen Pande on Saturday had carried out a comprehensive review of the overall security situation in eastern Ladakh, two days after Indian and Chinese militaries began disengaging from Patrolling Point 15 in the Gogra-Hotsprings area in the region. The Chief also witnessed Exercise Parvat Prahar while the disengagement continued.

Hindu lawyers claim win, Muslims say 1991 Act ignored

Varanasi court found that Places of Worship Act 1991 was not applicable to case

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

REACTIONS were on expected lines on Monday to the Varanasi district court's order agreeing to hear the case of five Hindu women to pray at a shrine inside the Gyanvapi mosque, located near the Kashi Vishwanath temple.

The lawyers belonging to the Hindu side called the court order a "major victory". The court rejected the Anjuman Intezamia Masajid (AIM) plea, prompting it to announce that it would move the Allahabad High Court against the order.

Lawyers Vishnu Jain and Harishankar Jain, who represented the Hindu plaintiffs in the legal battle, said the court found that the Places of Worship Act 1991 was not applicable to this case. The Act prohibits conversion of any place of worship and provides for maintenance of the religious character of any place of worship since it existed on August 15, 1947.

The Muslim side felt that the court order was not justified. Senior advocate Merazuddin Siddiqui, who was among the lawyers representing the AIM, said the mosque management committee would move the higher court challenging the district court's order.

"Judge Saheb might not have found Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act 1991 applicable here, but for us, the doors of higher courts are always open. The judiciary belongs to you (the judge), so you can ignore the Acts passed by Parliament," said the lawyer.

"We will discuss the 26-page order in detail, but it is certain that we will file a revision petition in the Allahabad High Court against it as all our arguments to prove the applicability of the Act have been overlooked," said Siddiqui.

He specifically mentioned the Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act, 1991 (Act no.42 of 1991), The Wakf Act 1995 (Act no.43 of 1995) and the UP Shri Kashi Vishwanath Temple Act, 1983 (Act no.29 of 1983).

Over the previous attempt to move the Allahabad High Court in April this year, he said, "We had moved the HC to challenge the appointment of advocate commissioner for court commission survey of Gyanvapi mosque by the civil judge (senior division). Our plea was not accepted."

Many Muslim scholars and clerics believe that the Varanasi District Court had disregarded the AIM's arguments based on the Places of Worship (special Provision) Act, 1991.

Maulana Khalid Rasheed Farangi Mahali, the executive member of the All India Muslim Personal Law Board (AIMPLB), said that following the Supreme Court observation during the Babri Masjid hearing, it was widely believed that all such matters related to temple-mosque issues would be put to rest forever. "However, these cases have been cropping up every now and then and the courts were entertaining them as well," the cleric said.

Post verdict, security tightened across UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

THE UP government on Monday sounded alert in all sensitive areas across the state, including the old city of Lucknow, on Monday amid celebrations among members of the Hindu community over the Varanasi district court order in the Gyanvapi case.

"Alert has been sounded in all sensitive areas and patrolling is up to ensure peace. Religious heads have issued statements appealing for peace," said Prashant Kumar, additional DGP (law and order).

He said static reserves of the UP Police have been deployed to ensure no anti-social elements exploited the situation. Digital volunteers have been told to keep an eye on social media platforms. Police personnel patrolling the road have been given riots gear, he said.

Western UP districts, including Meerut, Muzaffarnagar, Shamli, Bijnor, Hapur, Saharanpur, Bareli, Badaun and other districts of the region with sizeable Muslim population have been put on high alert since Monday morning.

Meanwhile, exuding happiness over the court's order, Sohan Lal Arya, husband of one of the petitioners in Shringar Gauri suit, claimed it to be a victory of the Hindu community. "It's a foundation stone for the Gyanvapi temple. I appeal to people to maintain calm," said Sohan Lal Arya, who had recently received a death threat from two men apparently belonging to Pakistan.

All Hindu women plaintiffs, accompanied by local residents of Varanasi, visited the temple of Kashi Vishwanath, dancing and singing religious songs. Both UP Deputy CMs – Keshav Maurya and Brajesh Pathak – have hailed the order saying they respected the court decision.

UP Minority Affairs Minister Danish Azad Ansari said everyone should respect the verdict. "The court listens to all sides and only then comes to a conclusion. All of us should respect whatever verdict the court has given," Ansari said while interacting with the media.

Meanwhile, appealing to the people to maintain peace and amity, Maulana Khalid Rasheed Farangi Mahali, AIMPLB member, suggested that the members of both communities should come together and settle all such issues.

Dehradun's Connaught Place market will be reduced to the pages of history in a few days. Constructed during the British rule, the market will be vacated and demolished from September 14. The building which is known in this name here was constructed by Seth Mansaram in 1930, a well-to-do banker from Dehradun. Named after Connaught Place in Delhi, Mansaram had brought in architects from Bombay for his building which would host people from Pakistan here on business. In an anti-climax, Mansaram soon went bankrupt after the building was completed. Built in the 40s, the historic stretch once had over 150 buildings.

'5,000 people involved in Meghalaya lynching'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Guwahati

MEGHALAYA police on Monday arrested five officials of the Jowai district jail after Saturday's incident of jailbreak even as a magisterial inquiry was ordered into Sunday's lynching of four of the six escapees by a mob in West Jaintia Hills.

Home Minister Lahkmen Rymbui told the Assembly on Monday that an SP was heading a separate probe by the police into the incident of jailbreak. He said a mob of not less than 5,000 people had carried out the attack.

The escapees include five under-trial prisoners and a convict who was undergoing his jail term. The minister appealed to people not to take the law into their hands and cooperate with the police. Official sources said an ADM would head the magisterial inquiry and the report would be submitted by September 19.

West Jaintia Hills District Magistrate Bat- lang S Sohliya told this newspaper, "One of those who escaped from the jail is absconding while another is in the custody of the police. He was caught by the mob but rescued by the police. He is fine now."

The six had escaped after attacking and overpowering the prison security personnel. According to reports, the arrested officials had allegedly connived with the escapees and facilitated their escape.

After their daring escape, the six had divided themselves into two groups of five and one. When the locals spotted the five at Shangpung in the district on Sunday afternoon, they attacked them with sticks and rods. Four of them had lost their lives in the incident.

The victims came under the locals' glare when they had gone out from a hideout to buy food for them.

Delhi HC breather for Shibu Soren in assets case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Ranchi

IN a major relief to Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) chief Shibu Soren, the Delhi High Court on Monday put a stay on the ongoing hearing against him in Lokpal.

The Lokpal of India had issued notice to the JMM chief asking him to appear before it in a disproportionate assets case. The development took place after Soren challenged the proceedings in the matter of disproportionate assets case through a petition.

He challenged the proceedings and order of preliminary inquiry conducted by CBI on the basis of jurisdiction. Supreme Court lawyer Kapil Sibal along with Arunabh Choudhary and Pragya Singh Baghel appeared on his behalf of Soren in Delhi High Court.

The matter will be heard next on December 12.

The complaint was filed on August 5, 2020, that Shibu Soren and his family members have amassed huge wealth, disproportionate to their "known and declared sources of income" through unscrupulous means. # Cong, BJP spar over Ram in C'garh

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

ALMOST a year ahead of the Assembly polls in Chhattisgarh, communal polarization is beginning to take roots. The ruling Congress has served a legal notice on the BJP asking it to show proof if Lord Ram or Krishna belonged to the saffron party alone.

Newly-appointed state BJP chief Arun Sao, Bilaspur MP, has issued a controversial statement saying that Ram and Krishna "belong to everyone but not the Congress."

"Everyone knows what the Congress said and did for Lord Ram in the past. They disputed the existence of Lord Ram citing no historical proof," Sao said.

The BJP president's remark was apparently the after-effect of the chief minister Bhupesh Baghel's assertion that the BJP doesn't have the sole right over Ram or Krishna as both remain deeply embedded in the hearts of everyone.

"I would like to ask the BJP to justify why Lord Ram or Krishna cannot be for Congress. I am a Congressman and as a devotee offer puja to both. In which document it is written that Shri Ram or Shri Krishna can only be for the BJP. If the BJP doesn't respond to our legal notice and apologize within 15 days, a defamation suit will be filed by the Congress," said advocate Dewa Dewangan, incharge, Congress.

However the BJP retorted saying that such legal notice would not offer any respite to the Congress, which remained a "sinking ship."

"The Congress is desperately attempting to keep itself politically relevant. We will respond to such a notice through an appropriate medium," said Naresh Gupta, BJP legal cell.

The experts familiar with the state politics cited that the Bhupesh government is apparently seen as consistent not to let the arch political rival BJP gain an advantage on religious politics.

'Typo' on file lands Abhishek's sis-in-law in ED office at midnight

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kolkata

A "typographical error" by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in a high-profile money laundering case linked to coal pilferage dragged chief minister Mamata Banerjee's nephew Abhishek Banerjee's sister-in-law in front of the central agency's office on Sunday midnight.

Maneka Gambhir turned up in front of ED's CGO complex office in Salt Lake shortly after midnight as she was issued a summon by the central agency asking her to come around at 12.30 am on September 12.

The sources in the ED said the time was erroneously mentioned as 12.30 am instead of 12.30 pm. Maneka moved the Calcutta High Court praying that contempt proceedings be drawn against the central agency.

The ED, however, issued a fresh summon asking Maneka to come at 12.30 pm at the agency's office. She was interrogated for over seven hours. Maneka had reached ED's office around 12.20 am with her lawyer. They showed the summon to the night guard who allowed them to enter the premises of the office.

She waited for 20 minutes as no ED official was present there, so she left.

"I was given a summon at the airport and I came according to the time mentioned there," said Maneka.The ED had issued summons to Maneka at the Kolkata airport on September 10 after she was denied permission to fly to Bangkok. The central agency, in the summon, said Maneka was required to join the investigation.

The CBI had earlier questioned Maneka in connection with the coal pilferage case and this was the first time she was interrogated by the EDin the money laundering case.

In August, the Calcutta High Court directed the ED to quiz Maneka at its regional office in Kolkata, not in Delhi. She had challenged anED summon that asked her to turn up at its Delhi office on September 5. The ED, earlier, had interrogated Abhishek and his wife Rujira Banerjee in connection with the money laundering case linked to coal pilferage.

In the petition in high court, Maneka's lawyer accused Jthatthe ED violated the earlier order of the court directing the central agency not to take any stern action against her and it did not bar her from traveling abroad.

J&K Cong slams Azad, calls him PM's 'advocate'

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

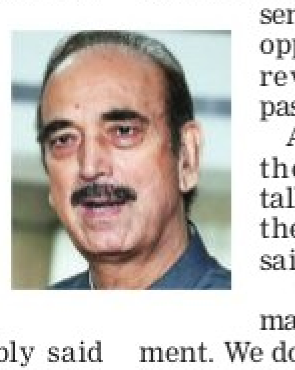
A day after former Congress leader and former Jammu and Kashmir chief minister Ghulam Nabi Azad said restoration of Article 370 was unlikely, the Congress on Monday slammed Azad saying he was BJP's man in Kashmir and acting as advocate of PM Narendra Modi with a mission to divide secular votes to benefit saffron party.



Former J&K Congress chief G A Mir told this newspaper that Azad is working on BJP's project. "He is working on Modi's project and honourably said that 2/3rd majority is needed to get Article 370 back".

He said it is a subjudice and the matter is in Supreme court. "Whether it is heard today or a year later or two years later, everybody has hopes with the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court has given its judgments twice on Article 370."

The bill, which was passed by the Parliament on August 5, 2019, will be authenticated only when the J & K Assembly passes resolution in this regard, said Mir. "The BJP knows it and is running away from elections. They know if the opposition gets a majority in the Assembly, the resolution opposing Article 370 revocation will be passed."

Azad ignored both these options and talked of majority in the Parliament, he said.

"We will wait for a majority in the Parliament. We don't say we will get it back tomorrow," he said.

In his first political rally in Kashmir after quitting Congress, Azad had said on Sunday that Article 370 restoration is unlikely to happen as a two-thirds majority is needed in Parliament for restoration of J&K's special status.

Ukrainian blitz continues

KYIV

UKRAINIAN forces said on Monday their lightning counter-offensive took back more ground in the past 24 hours, as Russia replied with strikes on some of the recaptured ground. Ukraine said forces had recaptured more than 20 additional settlements, claiming "Russian troops are hastily abandoning their positions and fleeing".

"In some areas of the front, our defenders reached the state border with the Russian Federation," said Oleh Syniehubov, the governor of Kharkiv region. There were reports of chaos as Russian troops pulled out in haste.

"The Russians were here in the morning. Then at noon, they suddenly started shouting wildly and began to run away, charging off in tanks and armored vehicles," Dmytro Hrushchenko, a resident of recently-liberated Zaliznychne, a small town near the eastern frontline, told Sky News of the quick withdrawal.

"'That the Russian army is completely degraded made our work easier; they fled like Olympic sprinters," a Ukrainian commander told Financial Times. It was not yet clear if the Ukrainian blitz could signal a turning point in the war. Momentum has switched back and forth before. The mood was jubilant across the country. The General Staff of the Armed Forces of Ukraine said Monday its troops had liberated more than 20 settlements within the past day. In recent days, Kyiv's forces have captured territory at least the size of Greater London, according to British Defense Ministry. Agencies

INR settlement accounts for Russia exports likely soon

RBI has insisted all banks to expedite the process of opening vostro accounts to clear payments of Russian exporters in rupee

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

> Opening up of vostro account in Indian rupee is taking some time because of some procedural issues. Once these accounts are operational, there won't be any problem —Government sources

THE Reserve Bank of India has insisted upon all the banks to expedite the process of opening vostro accounts to clear payments due to Russian exporters, say government sources.

The apex bank has already drawn framework for opening vostro accounts of correspondent banks of partner trading countries to facilitate the settlements in rupee and not dollars.

It was told in a recently held meeting, besides RBI officials, finance and commerce ministry officials and bankers were also present. A vostro account is opened by a domestic bank with a foreign correspondent bank to act as an agent for the domestic bank. "Opening up of vostro account in Indian rupee is taking some time because of some procedural issues. Once these accounts are operational, there won't be any problem," one of the sources told TNIE. "The framework for opening up of vostro account has already been laid down by the RBI. So, to get these accounts operational isn't an issue," he added. "The process is already on. The Russian banks have applied to Indian banks. It's just a matter of weeks and it can happen anytime soon," the source further stated. He added that the banks have pressure from all sides - finance ministry, RBI and commerce ministry to speed up the process. India has been dealing with Russia for a long time. As far as rouble is concerned, the liquidity is limited as it is not traded in India and the country's settlement doesn't generally happen in rouble.

"RBI has opened the window for payment in rupee. So, the importers can pay in rupee and Russians can receive the payment in rupee. There is no issue in that," the source cited above said. In July, the RBI had issued a circular, "Indian importers undertaking trade via this mechanism shall make payment in INR, which shall be credited into special vostro account of correspondent banks of the partner country against the invoices for the supply of goods or services."

Sensex above 60,000, expert warns of 10-15% correction

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Sensex rose nearly 322 points to close above the 60,000 level on Monday and hit a three-week high, tracking gains in banking, IT and energy stocks amid positive global cues.

The 30-share index closed higher by 321.99 pts or 0.54% to 60,115.13, while the broader NSE Nifty gained 103 points or 0.58% to settle at 17,936.35 points.

Foreign fund inflow, crude oil prices trading near $93 level, macro data reflecting the strong growth recovery, among other things, lifted investor sentiment. However, consumer inflation rising to 7% in August may impact consumer sentiment in the coming sessions as it may force the RBI to go for a steeper rate hike.

Pankaj Pandey, head – research, ICICIdirect, said the market has been performing well over the last few quarters owing to huge liquidity, upward earnings cycle, economic revival owing to fading Covid-19 effect. He, however, added that the market participants should be wary of the rising inflation and resulting removal of liquidity from the system. According to Pandey, "Rising inflation risk and hence withdrawal of ultra-easy monetary policy by global central banks (mainly Federal Reserves) may trigger a sharp rise in bond yields, which can cause risk assets to correct sharply. Hence one can remain invested with a vigilant eye on the move in yields world over, which can result in sharp 10-15% correction from the current levels."

On CPI numbers, Soumya Kanti Ghosh, Group chief economic adviser, SBI, said RBI may raise rates in September policy and it could be a close call between 35 and 50 bps.

ED UNFREEZES WAZIRX BANK ACCOUNTS

UMA KANNAN@ Bengaluru

CRYPTO exchange WazirX, which has over 12 million users, on Monday said the Enforcement Directorate (ED) has unfrozen its bank accounts and that it will continue its banking operations as usual.

Last month, the ED conducted searches on the premises of one of the directors of Zanmai Labs, which owns WazirX, and froze their bank balances worth ₹64.67 crore. The agency has been conducting money laundering investigations against many non-banking financial companies and their fintech partners for predatory lending practices in violation of the RBI guidelines. It said these fintech apps have shut operations and diverted huge profits.

WazirX in a blog post said it is like any other intermediary whose platform may have been misused.

While freezing bank balances, payment gateway balances and crypto balances of Flipvolt cryptocurrency exchange recently, the ED said during fund trail investigation, it found funds, which were proceeds of crime derived from predatory lending practices, were deposited by entities including accused NBFCs and their fintech companies into the INR wallets. As per the agency, cryptocurrencies purchased by these entities were transferred to various unknown foreign wallet addresses. The ED has been conducting an investigation of 16 fintech firms and instant loan apps, some of them happened to use WazirX platform. Apart from these firms, the ED conducted search operations on the premises of Razorpay, Cashfree Payments and Paytm recently.

The agency is investigating a specific set of merchants. Fintech firms say the RBI's new guidelines on digital lending apps will help borrowers find out genuine players. When asked about the procedures a fintech firm follows before onboarding merchants, Pallav Jain, CEO and co-founder, ShopSe, an instant EMI platform, said its merchant partners must follow a number of safeguards to mitigate identity-related concerns.

Edul Patel, CEO and co-founder of Mudrex, a crypto investing platform, said they keep track of all the transactions occurring on its platform with the help of crypto transaction monitoring partners for better safety and security purposes. "We do not hold any custody of the user's INR in our wallets. Users on our platform fund their wallets by purchasing stable coins using INR. Those stable coins are held by our users in their wallets, which is backed by Binance, the largest crypto exchange globally," Patel said.

Air India to induct 30 new aircraft to bolster presence

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

FULL-SERVICE carrier Air India is inducting 30 new aircraft - 25 Airbus narrow-body and 5 Boeing wide-body aircraft - as it looks to bolster its presence in the domestic, as well as international, destinations under its new owner Tata Group.

These aircraft will enter service from late 2022 and would increase the airline's fleet by over 25%. Excluding 10 grounded narrow-body and 6 wide-body aircraft that have been returned to service in recent months, these new aircraft mark the first major fleet expansion since Air India's acquisition by the Tata Group earlier this year, the airline said. The aircraft being leased include 21 Airbus A320neos, 4 Airbus A321neos and 5 Boeing B777-200LRs.

B777-200LRs, slated to join the fleet between December 2022 and March 2023, will be deployed on routes from Indian metro cities to the US.

Mumbai will see addition of flights to San Francisco, as well as to both of New York area's international airports - Newark Liberty and John F Kennedy, while Bengaluru will see 3x weekly service to San Francisco. These aircraft will result in Air India offering Premium Economy haul flights for the first time.

The 4 A321 aircraft are expected to join the fleet in the first quarter of calendar year 2023, while the 21 A320 will be inducted in the second-half of 2023. These aircraft will be deployed on domestic sectors, as well as to short-haul international destinations.

Campbell Wilson, CEO & managing director of Air India, said, "After a long time without significant growth, Air India is delighted to resume expanding its fleet and global footprint. These new aircraft, together with existing aircraft being returned to service, address an immediate need for more capacity and connectivity and mark a strong step forward." Air India's narrow-body fleet currently stands at 70 aircraft, of which 54 are in service. The remaining 16 aircraft are expected to return to service by early 2023. Similarly, its wide-body fleet currently stands at 43 aircraft, of which 33 are operational. The rest will return to service by early 2023.

Health expenditure at 3.2% of GDP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE total health expenditure (THE) of the government was 3.2% of the GDP in 2018, the lowest since 2004-05. However, the per capita spending of ₹4,470 has been the highest, according to the 2022 National Health Accounts Estimates (NHAE) report, which was released on Monday. The report covers health sector expenditure patterns till 2018-19.

A comparative analysis shows that THE as a percentage of the GDP was 4.2% in 2004-05, the highest in over a decade. It has been steadily declining since then, reaching 3.9% in 2014-15 and 3.8% in the following two years. It shrunk further to 3.3% in 2017-8 and 3.2% a year later.

At the same time, the per capita spending at current prices increased from ₹1,201 in 2004-05 to ₹4,470 in 2018-19.

The estimates also show that out-of-pocket expenses borne directly by the patients have been steadily declining from 69.4% in 2004-05 to 48.2% in 2018-19. But this slide is miniscule compared to the previous year when it stood at 48.8%. The household health expenditure, which includes insurance, continues to be 54.3% of THE.

"Household's Out of Pocket Expenditure on health (OPPE) is ₹2,87,573 crores (48.21% of THE, 1.52% of GDP, ₹2,155 per capita). Private Health Insurance expenditure is ₹39,201 crores (6.57% of THE)."

The estimates also show that private hospitals make up for most of the current health expenditure (CHE), with ₹1,55,013 crores (28.69% of CHE) as compared to ₹93,689 crores (17.34%) in government hospitals.

India's THE in 2018-19 is estimated to be ₹5,96,440 crores (3.16% of GDP and ₹4,470 per capita).

Adanis reject R-Infra's ₹13,400 cr claim in Mumbai power business transfer deal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

A fresh tension is brewing up between Asia's richest billionaire Gautam Adani and Anil Ambani. Adani Group firm Adani Transmission Ltd (ATL) on Monday rejected the claim of Anil Ambani-led Reliance Infrastructure, which is seeking ₹13,400 crore in relation to a deal to transfer its Mumbai power business to ATL.

In a regulatory filing, ATL said that the claim amount is just ₹500 crore and accused R-Infra of not settling its significantly larger claims under the share purchase agreement (SPA). "Reliance Infrastructure Ltd (R-Infra), part of the Reliance Anil Dhirubhai Ambani Group, initiated arbitration on one specific dispute under the Share Purchase Agreement (SPA) in December 2021. This was a claim for ₹500 Cr. Following the due process, ATL/Adani Electricity rejected the R-Infra claim. In addition, ATL/Adani Electricity submitted that R-Infra has not yet settled AEML's significantly larger claims under the SPA," ATL said in a regulatory filing.

Meanwhile, R-infra has said arbitration claim, filed before the Mumbai Centre for International Arbitration, is in relation to disputes with regard to breach of the terms of the share purchase agreement dated 21st December 2017 relating to transfer of Mumbai Power Business to Adani Transmission Limited.

With festive season nearing, job market expected to rebound in coming quarter

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

WITH the festive season round the corner, job market is expected to rebound in the coming quarter with positive workforce sentiments, says global talent management platform Monster.com.

Last month, recruitment activity flattened 3% across industry segments. However, industries across various sectors are continuing to post positive growth trends as the economy continues to open up post pandemic. As per Monster.com, apart from the agro industry, which posed a positive incline in online hiring activity, segments such as BFSI, retail, real estate, telecom, and travel & tourism have noted an annual growth in e-recruitment activity. Consequently, demand for roles across finance & accounts, HR & admin, and hospitality also saw an incline reflecting consistent demand for skilled talent across these segments.

Sekhar Garisa, CEO, Monster.com, a Quess company, said, "While hiring has slowed down this August due to global economic concerns, we are optimistic that jobs will bounce back in India over the coming quarter with the ongoing festive season." He added that retail continues to do well with improved e-commerce sales and rising footfall across stores. Moreover, India continues on its tech adaptive journey with newer technologies and consequently newer skills in demand by recruiters. It is key that workforce upskilling be taken more seriously now than ever for career growth and overall economic progress in the country, Garisa said. Shipping/marine, media & entertainment, and engineering/cement/construction continued to chart maximum annual decline in hiring activity, indicating lower demand for professionals in these segments, it said. While the IT industry (down 8%) saw a hiring dip due to ongoing start-up layoffs, great resignations and variable pay-out trends in the sector.

INFLATION

Excessive fiscal measures leave trail of untold consequences

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

SUNTIHA NATTI

COUNTRIES are on an anti-inflation tear. Prices shot up largely due to excessive money printing that funded the previous fiscal stimulus programmes, still, governments believe throwing even more money will help lower inflation.

From the UK to Singapore, governments are cutting expensive inflation stimulus cheques to households, while some like Japan and Germany are already for round two and three of the relief measures.

India too fingered its worry beads, but like its seasoned-response to the pandemic with limited stimulus, its inflation-fight too was minimal. Even as headline inflation peaked to a 8-year high of 7.8% in April, the government's $26 billion fiscal package offered fuel tax cuts, LPG subsidies, besides export bans and import duties. It stayed put even when the basket of crude oil surged to $116 in June, hoping for the transitory episode to subside. It now averages at $88 per barrel, but that's yet to reflect in pump prices.

One reason that helped India was that unlike the US and the UK, where inflation touched 40-year highs, India's current inflation bout remained relatively modest, though well above the RBI's tolerance band.

But some believe, excessive fiscal measures leave a trail of untold consequences and instead of taming price rise, they risk its continuation until supply exceeds demand. So, governments instead of spending their way out of inflation, must increase production or reduce direct taxes and regulations to spur investments and jobs. So far, much relief is via one-time cash handouts or temporary fiscal relief.

Which is why, the US' $740 billion-Inflation Reduction Act is seen as less substance than symbolism, and when stripped off the tax deficits and energy and healthcare spending, there's little to help tame inflation. Germany, which first gave $300 handouts only to the salaried, last week followed up with another expensive third relief package, offering all citizens anywhere from a couple hundred euros to a €2,285 in relief per year.

Likewise, when Italy's inflation hit a 36-year high, it prompted the government to rollout a $14.7 billion relief package including one-off payments of $200 to pensioners and low wage earners, while France -- among the first countries to offer relief -- pledged $100 to roughly 38 million citizens last October. The UK, which is coursing through one of the fiercest cost of living crisis, too is giving $715 each to 8 million low-income households, besides discounts on electricity bills.

Asian economies are at it too. Japan, which for years struggling to raise inflation to 2%, is hit by high prices and announced a $11.7 billion relief package in April. Last week, it began giving 50,000 yen cash handouts for 16 million poor households.

Similarly, when Singapore's inflation touched a 13-year high, its government responded with $1.07 billion stimulus, cutting households and small businesses a one-time $280 cheque each. The Malaysian government too gave a $143 million relief package to the bottom 40% of earners, or roughly 8.6 million people as inflation peaked.

Inflation in India stays at elevated level

Even as headline inflation peaked to 8-year high of 7.8% in April, the government's $26 billion fiscal package offered fuel tax cuts, LPG subsidies, besides export bans and import duties. It stayed put even when the basket of crude oil surged to $116 in June, hoping for the transitory episode to subside

Siraj takes 4/54 on Warwickshire debut

India pacer Mohammed Siraj stole headlines on his county debut as he took four wickets for 54 runs in 19 overs for Warwickshire against Somerset on day one. He dismissed Imam-Ul-Haq, George Bartlett, James Rew and Josh Davey to keep Somerset to 182/8 in 56 overs at stumps. The other Indian in the side, Jayant Yadav took 1/42 in 14 overs.

MISSION AUSTRALIA UNDERWAY

Pacers Bumrah, Harshal back in the India squad, Shami included as standby for the T20 World Cup

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

IN the end, as reported by this newspaper, there was no surprise inclusion in the 15-member Indian squad for the upcoming T20 World Cup to be held in Australia beginning October 16. Fast bowlers Jasprit Bumrah and Harshal Patel — who missed India's Asia Cup campaign with back and rib injuries, respectively — have been included for the trip Down Under after clearing the fitness tests. The Asia Cup debacle in the UAE has led to some serious doubts as to whether India can be counted among favourites. However, the selectors and the team management have chosen to retain the faith in the batting group as they have performed well in the bilateral T20Is since the last T20 World Cup, where they failed to get past the group stages.

The 15-member squad includes five batters in captain Rohit Sharma, KL Rahul, Virat Kohli, Suryakumar Yadav and Deepak Hooda. The two wicketkeeping slots which was a topic of discussion among the selectors on Monday, went to Dinesh Karthik and Rishabh Pant. While the former's place was never in doubt as he is the only role-specific batter in the squad, there were some concerns about Pant's place. As much as he has cracked the Test and ODIs to an extent, the left-hander is yet to do the same with T20Is. However, with Ravindra Jadeja – who would have been a certainty in the XI if not for an injury – not available, Pant was always going to be an automatic pick as also happens to be the only left-hander in the batting unit.

For the three all-rounders slot, the selectors went with Hardik Pandya, R Ashwin and Axar Patel. The one spinner's place went to leg-spinner Yuzvendra Chahal, meaning there is no place for Ravi Bishnoi. The only way the leg-spinner could have got a look-in was if the selectors wanted to drop someone like Ashwin. However, the off-spinner enjoys a strong backing from the team management and the captain, as they believe he will have a big role to play at the World Cup.

Given the injury concerns to Burmah and Harshal, a serious thought was given around recalling Mohammed Shami to the World Cup-bound squad. The Bengal pacer had a fruitful IPL with Gujarat Titans, where he picked up 20 wickets. That said, since the last T20 World Cup, he hasn't played a single T20 international. Shami, though, finds himself in the reserves, and has been included for the two home series against Australia and South Africa that precede the World Cup. For the World Cup, Bumrah, Harshal, Arshdeep Singh and Bhunveshwar Kumar are the four pacers. Deepak Chahar is also included in the standby's alongside batter Shreyas Iyer.

While selecting the 15 was never going to be an issue, much of India's fate in the World Cup lies in the combination they choose to take the field. For instance, they are keen on having a good batting depth, and are also keen on having six bowling options. Hooda was included in the plans post the last World Cup debacle as he happens to be the only batter in the line-up who could be banked on to bowl on a regular basis. However, it is very unlikely he would find a slot in the XI as Suryakumar Yadav is high in the pecking order and there is no place in the top-three. Slotting Hooda at No 6 & 7 – a role he is not used to – ahead of Karthik, who specialises in a finisher's role, could be detrimental. At the same time, if Hooda doesn't make the cut, then India may not have a sixth bowling option.

This means, someone like Axar, could end up becoming an integral member of the squad if India need to blend batting depth and six bowling options together. Including Axar in the XI means India will also have a left-hander in the batting order, and it could open the way for Karthik to play ahead of Pant.

In the 15-member squad, India are definitely not short on resources. But how they manage those resources would ultimately seal their fate.

T20 WC SQUAD

Rohit (C), Rahul (vc), Kohli, Suryakumar, Hooda, Pant (wk), Karthik (wk), Hardik, Ashwin, Chahal, Axar, Bumrah, Bhuvneshwar, Harshal, Arshdeep.
Standbys: Shami, Shreyas, Bishnoi, Chahar.

* Shami and Chahar included for Australia and South Africa T20Is. Arshdeep will miss the former and Bhuvneshwar the latter.

The ones who hold the key

Everyone has a specified role in this squad, but there are a few who could be crucial for India to end their drought in the trophy cabinet. A look at the key players...

ROHIT SHARMA

As a batter, Australian conditions are his strong suit. There are very few who can handle pace and bounce like he can. But what more, he has been handed the captaincy for his tactical nous, habit of winning trophies in the IPL.

JASPRIT BUMRAH

It's no secret that he is the first name on the team sheet. New-ball, middle-overs or death, he is India's go-to man, especially in T20s. Coming back from a injury, how he holds up over the next 45 days will decide India's fortunes.

SURYAKUMAR YADAV

If Bumrah was the first name, his would be the third. Easily, the best T20I batter in the world. Striking at 182.3, Surya's 360 degree game could be the X-factor for India.

HARDIK PANDYA

One of the biggest drawbacks in the last edition was the absence of his bowling. He is fit and raring to go. Backbone of India's balance, they will have to be careful on how they use him with the ball.

VIRAT KOHLI

A month ago, there were questions over his place. But the ex-captain has roared back to form and how in the Asia Cup, hitting his first T20I ton. Apart from Rohit, Kohli is another batter who feels at home Down Under.

CHAHAL & AXAR

The former was left out of 2021 T20 WC, and latter comes in as a Jadeja's replacement. In Australia, with massive boundaries, both will have a vital role to play. Axar's left-handed batting could determine the team's mix-up.

DINESH KARTHIK

12 years since his last T20 WC appearance, he has broken down the doors with his performance as a finisher. It all will come down to the team combination (Pant or Karthik or both) whether he gets to play a role in the XI.

WILDCARD: MOHAMMED SHAMI

The pacer did not seem to be in the scheme of things for India in T20Is up until after the Asia Cup. But the way he has performed in the IPL earlier this year had increased his chances of travelling to Australia as a standby along with Deepak Chahar.

Mandhana to consider pulling out of WBBL '22

GOMESH S @ Chennai

WITH the gruelling cricket schedule ahead in the lead up to the 2023 T20 World Cup in South Africa, India vice-captain Smriti Mandhana has said she might consider whether or not to take part in the upcoming edition of the Women's Big Bash League. Mandhana, who was a part of Sydney Thunder in the last edition of WBBL, was expected to be among the top picks for this year as well. While Harmanpreet Kaur (Melbourne Renegades), Jemimah Rodrigues (Melbourne Stars), and Pooja Vastrakar (Brisbane Heat) have already been named as overseas picks, the southpaw's name was yet to be confirmed.

When asked about it ahead of the second T20I against England, the 26-year-old said that she might consider pulling out of the tournament, considering the schedule India have. "I think more than the mental part, it's about managing a little bit of physical part. Definitely, I'll be thinking about pulling out of WBBL because I don't want to miss out on playing for India or having any niggles when I play for India because I want to give my 100% when I play international cricket," she said in the prematch press conference.

Mandhana has been on the road since the ODI World Cup — Senior T20 league, Sri Lanka tour, Commonwealth Games, The Hundred and the ongoing England tour. The Asia Cup is starting on October 1, followed by the senior T20 league and the T20I series against Australia at home in December before leaving for South Africa, where they will play a tri-series against the hosts and West Indies before the World Cup. With the WBBL also scheduled to be played in October-November, it could be another six months of non-stop cricket away from home if she travels to Australia.

She was her candid self when asked about the tight schedule India women have at the moment. "As a woman player, we always wanted this sort of schedule for us. I'm really happy to be playing so much cricket and I've had my family here in England. My mom is here and she was here for the Hundred as well. So that also helps to be in a good mindset and the teammates have been just amazing. It feels like we're a family together."

Alcaraz 'hungry' for more

AFP @ New York

CARLOS Alcaraz said on Sunday he was "hungry for more" after claiming a maiden Grand Slam triumph at the US Open and a place in the record books as the youngest world number one in the history of men's tennis.

The 19-year-old Spaniard defeated Norway's Casper Ruud 6-4, 2-6, 7-6 (1), 6-3 in the final to become the youngest Grand Slam men's champion since Rafael Nadal at the 2005 French Open. "Right now I'm enjoying the moment. I'm enjoying have the trophy in my hands but of course, I'm hungry for more," said Alcaraz, the first teenager to be number one in the rankings. "I want to be in the top for many, many weeks and I hope many years. I'm going to work hard again after this week, these amazing two weeks. I'm going to fight for have more of this."

Sunday's victory comes in a breakthrough year for Alcaraz. His US Open title followed Masters wins in Miami and Madrid — where he defeated Nadal and Novak Djokovic back-to-back — Rio and Barcelona.

"Since I won Miami, I thought I was able to have a Grand Slam in my hands. But before Miami, I was thinking that I have to still grow up," he said.

However, that optimism faded with a last-16 exit at Wimbledon, a first-up loss at the Montreal Masters and a quarter-final defeat in Cincinnati.

"In Montreal and in Cincinnati I lost the joy a little bit. I felt the pressure. I couldn't smile on court which I'm doing in every match, every tournament," he explained.

"I came here just to enjoy, to smile on court, to enjoy playing tennis. If I have fun, I saw my best level, my best tennis."

Alcaraz's coach Juan Carlos Ferrero said the champion was "born to play these tournaments" and that there was much more to come from his compatriot. "I think he's on 60% of his game. He can improve a lot of things. He knows and I know that we have to keep working," said Ferrero.

"Once to get to the No. 1, it's not done and you go. You have to keep working, keep playing at a huge level on that tournaments to keep winning. He knows that and I know that. I'm going to be very close from him to remember him."

Ferrero was French Open champion in 2003, the year that Alcaraz was born. He has been guiding the new US Open champion since he was 15 when he was nowhere near the finished product. "When he arrived to the academy, he was like a spaghetti, very thin. We had to work," recalled Ferrero.

Alcaraz, however, was quick to point out on Sunday that he still only has one Slam title — 21 behind Nadal's men's record. "But I'm on the road," he admitted.

GIANTS COLLIDE

Robert Lewandowski will return to his former home as Barcelona meet Bayern in the Champions League. Struggling Liverpool face Ajax challenge at Anfield. A look at the two matches...

Bayern vs Barcelona

12:30 AM IST (WEDNESDAY)

The clash between these two giants will see the much-anticipated return of Lewandowski to Munich. The Poland striker has already notched up six goals in five La Liga games this term. Having scored a hat-trick against Vikotria Plzen in the opener, he'll be determined to find the target against his old club. Bayern, meanwhile, enter the contest after being held to a third consecutive draw in Bundesliga. While Bayern have scored 31 goals in nine games this season, they have missed Lewandowski's penetration at crucial moments of late. They have a strong recent CL record against Barcelona, with two 3-0 wins last season along with an 8-2 quarterfinal win on the way to the 2020 title.

Liverpool vs Ajax

12:30 AM IST (WEDNESDAY)

Liverpool will hope to answer their crushing 4-1 opening loss at Napoli with a good result against Ajax. The Jurgen Klopp's men have been ponderous in their play this term and were punished by the Italian club for their woeful defending. The return of Thiago Alcantara, who featured in the second-half against Napoli, could make a big difference as he has the rare ability to dictate play in the midfield and also supply some defence-splitting passes. A buoyant Ajax visit Anfield, fresh from their 4-0 mauling of Rangers on matchday one, looking to twist the knife into a Liverpool side that appears to be running on empty.

Tuesday: Sporting vs Tottenham; Viktoria Plzen vs Inter (both matches 10:15pm). Wednesday: Bayer Leverkusen vs Atletico Madrid (12:30am).

Post 17-month injury trouble, Bouchard taking baby steps to regain lost ground

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

THE sparsely populated centre court at the SDAT tennis stadium were thankful for the gentle sea breeze cutting across the stadium. Late Summer evenings can be brutal — it's the default setting on most days — in the city but the humidity was down a notch. Compared to a few days ago when the wind was non-existent and the humidity dialled up to the maximum, Monday was, in relative terms, pleasant.

On the court, though, Eugenie Bouchard wasn't feeling it. The sweat on her forehead was permanent. It's why she went through seven towels. The ice-pack was her permanent friend. In the end, though, the struggle was worth it. She beat Joanne Zuger 7-6 (4), 6-2 to advance to the second round of the Chennai Open. Significantly, it's her first tour-level main draw win since the shoulder injury at last year's Monterrey Open in March.

After initially opting for conservative treatment following the torn subscapularis (a muscle in the rotator cuff), she went under the knife in June. From June 2021 till August 2022, she was forced to spend her days away from the only thing she has been doing since the age of 5. It tested her patience but she never thought about switching careers. "The break away from tennis really tested my patience," she said in the post-match press conference. "It was a long process and I have never done those things before. But I never wanted to stop. It's just the beginning of my comeback and hopefully I will have more years on the Tour."

Considering she's just starting to take baby steps in getting back to elite-level tennis, she will not lose any sleep about the level she showed against the 21-year-old Swiss. She lost serve to open proceedings but won the next four on the trot. However, Zuger, world No 167, punched back with a few winners of her own from the baseline. She wiped out the arrears in no time. At 4-4, the 28-year-old, ranked 902 because of the time away from the game, looked wobbly. The conditions were beginning to take a toll. She was broken again, giving Zuger the opportunity to serve for the set. The Swiss even had a set point at 6-5, 40-30. But a weak first serve did not help and Bouchard gave it the treatment it deserved, a down the line backhand winner.

The Canadian opened the tie-break with a winner on the forehand side. She had no trouble in closing out the set 7-4. The second was relatively drama free, with more winners. On Wednesday, when she plays for a place in the quarterfinals, Bouchard may again go through seven towels. But that will be a footnote if she advances.

Statement win for Karman

India's Karman Kaur Thandi, here as a wildcard, beat the eighth-seed Chloe Paquet in a physical three-set battle. Karman, playing in her first main draw 250 level event for the first time since 2018, beat the Frenchwoman 4-6, 6-4, 6-3. She next faces Bouchard. The 24-year-old said this is possibly the biggest win of her career. "Win means a lot," she said after the match. "First main draw win at the 250 level. Nothing as such (anything new?). Just the will power and the grit to fight. Grateful for my team who supported me every moment (in today's game)." Select results: Rebecca Marino bt Anna Blinkova 7-5, 6-2, Eugenie Bouchard bt Joanne Zuger 7-6 (4), 6-2, Karman Kaur Thandi bt Chloe Paquet 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

DANCING TO A NEW TUNE

Yakshagaana has mostly been a male-dominated artform, but this time, an all-woman cast will take centre stage to break a leg as well as the old-age norm

TUNIR BISWAS

THIS city is embracing the coast of Karnataka. Not just in terms of its climate where certain recently deluged areas in Bengaluru needed boats for commuting, but also in its art. Yakshagaana, a traditional Karnataka performance art form, which used to be predominantly performed in the coastal areas of the state, has started to find relevance in the city as well. More and more performances of Yakshagaana are being done, and the urban crowd are all for it.

However, this development of this artform hasn't just been geographic but also in the demographic of the performing artists. Over the past decade, there has been a surge in the participation of women artists in this traditionally male-dominated art form, where even the women characters used to be donned by men.

"While the cast of Yakshagaana used to be largely dominated by men, now there are quite a few troupes of only female artists. The situation is getting more liberal, and all sorts of people are coming together purely for the love of the art form," says Shubha Bhat, a Yakshagaana artiste.

As a recent example of the nature of this artform getting more progressive, the Bangalore International Centre (BIC) will be hosting an all-women Yakshagaana performance on September 14, 2022, at 6:30 pm. This is the first time BIC will be organising a Yakshagaana with an all-woman cast, and Bhat is one of the artists performing.

While the city of Bengaluru is late to the party when it comes to appreciating Yakshagaana performances, artiste Sowmya Pradeep Hebbar feels the city crowd has warmed up to them quite well. "This city has people from not just different parts of Karnataka but of the country as well. Before the crowd that migrated to the city from the coastal regions were more passionate about the artform, we have noticed that nowadays, Bengalureans are also readily attending such events. We have received stellar responses," says Hebbar.

A majority of Yakshagaana artistes naturally come from the coastal regions of the state due to the artform's heightened popularity over there. So for an artiste like Yuktha Joshi, who hails from Udupi, there is a lot of nostalgia attached to Yakshagaana.

"During summer vacations, we used to visit our native town a lot. There, Yakshagaana is hugely popular. So, my cousins and I used to frequent a lot of late-night Yakshagaana performances, which used to happen from 10 pm to 6 am. I have a lot of childhood memories from those days. I remember, as kids, we used to get so scared at the entry of the rakshasa characters in those acts," shares Joshi.

Since Yakshagaana stories are largely influenced by mythologies like the Mahabharata or the Ramayana, Bhat feels there is an added element of spirituality during the performance.

"It is an artform based on the worshipping of gods. We start with a puja, then we perform the play, and again, end with a puja. So there definitely exists an element of spiritual awakening and devotion in Yakshagaana," says Bhat.

Even though the upcoming performance on September 14 with an all-woman cast is a relatively rare event, the artistes don't feel there is any added pressure to do well. "Once the stage is set, and the audience is watching, all pressure goes away," reiterates Hebbar. The artistes also cite veterans like Padmi Shri-awardee Chittani Ramachandra Hegde, Nidle Govinda Bhat, Kumble Shridhara Rao and Kumble Sundara Rao as key influences.

It's time for a move for Samrat restaurant, which is all set to shut its popular branch at Basaveshwara Circle on September 25

OLD-SCHOOL HANGOUT DOWNS SHUTTERS

MONIKA MONALISA

AS news of Samrat hotel, inside Chalukya Hotel, slips out, old Bengalureans as well as the ones who got to know about the news through regulars of the restaurant, started thronging the place to get a taste of their signature dishes. Nestled in the heart of the city, the restaurant has been seeing 30-40 per cent more footfall in the last few days.

"On any given day we serve around 3,000 customers a day. When the news of the restaurant moving from here came out, the rush increased. Even if it's going to a new place, the feel and decor won't be the same," says Ravindranath Nayak, the cashier at the restaurant.

The topic of Samrat hotel closing shop in its current location has created a stir on Twitter. The reason for the move is that the lease period has come to an end. "Chalukya Hotel's lease is still there, only the restaurant is moving out," confirms Nayak, adding that they will be serving the same food at Mini Samrat on Miller's Road, which is a branch of this outlet. Though there are talks about the eatery moving closer to Jain Hospital on Millers road, Nayak says they still have not finalised the place since "one of the top criteria is parking space, however, it will be some place closer to the current location."

Known for their masala dosae, badam halwa and rava idli, the restaurant has been frequented by the Bengaluru icons like Dr Rajkumar and his family. "Annavru and his family have come here so many times. But from their family, Puneeth Rajkumar visited the restaurant most often. His regular order was masala dosae," recalls Nayak.

So what makes this coveted dosae so famous? It could be the crisp orange-tinted dosae or the channa dal chutney that is served as an accompaniment. "I used to come here with my dad when I was a little girl. Through my teenage and my 20s, this continued to be a regular ritual. I even came here after participating in a protest against the steel flyover. Each time I have come here it is different," says Mridula R, a resident of Rajajinagar.

For those planning to pay a visit to the restaurant – the North Indian section closes permanently on September 14 – they will take their final order on September 25. Even as the restaurant is planning to move from its regular place of 45 years, you could hear many people speaking highly about the heavily carved chairs and the marble flooring, which one hopes will also move to the new space.

Shreyas Hareesh from Bengaluru has qualified to represent India in the FIM MiniGP World Series Finals in Valencia, Spain

GET SET, GO

MONIKA MONALISA

IT is said you should have a dream that doesn't let you sleep at night. And city-based racer Shreyas Hareesh found his dream early on when he was just nine years old. Now 12, he is all set to live it. "I always wanted to represent India on a global platform and emerge a winner," says Hareesh, who is inching close by qualifying to represent India in the FIM MiniGP World Series Finals in Valencia, Spain.

Hareesh (220 points) finished first in the FIM MiniGP World Series India 2022. He will compete with winners of respective national series held in 15 countries. As a remarkable comeback, he won four out of five races in the following five weeks, including Round 4, where he scored a double. Hareesh completed with 220 points to finish at the top of the series points table. "I am excited but I realise that the World Championship is going to be much tougher and will need lots of preparation. So, not relaxing yet, it's hard work ahead," says the young boy, who emphasises the importance of consistency.

Leaving no stones unturned to get that trophy, Hareesh says he can't afford to lose focus of the goal. "The dream has and will always be to hear the Indian National Anthem play. Nothing less will do. Both physical training and practice at the track are ongoing. Lots of work ahead in the coming month before we leave for Spain," says a determined Hareesh.

Although he performed well at the Indian Championships, it's the World Championship that has always been on his mind.

CHAMPION
FIM MiniGP India Se

"Dad always tells me that being consistent is more important than trying to be a hero in one race. This is a Championship and not any race, one has to be patient, learn from peers and push when the time is right. Frankly, first or second in the Indian Championship is not so important. What is more important is preparation ahead of the World MiniGP Championship. I will give my best in Spain," says Hareesh, who will be in Europe for the first time. And as a part of preparation, he does keep a keen eye on the other competitors.

"Though I have been following a few riders on social media, we can't make much of this till we actually watch them in person or ride with them on the track," he adds.

In Sanskrit, 'Uttara' means upwards and 'bodhi' refers to the closure to awakening, 'mudra' means gesture, mark or seal. Hence, 'Uttarabodhi Mudra' means a gesture of moving energy upward to reach a higher state of awakened intellect i.e. enlightenment. This has a great significance in Buddhism. It is performed as a spiritual practice to develop a sense of unity within oneself. It helps to form a connection with divine supreme power with ultimate enlightenment, hence the name.

- Start moving hands from the diaphragm and rise upward through the central channel to reach the heart.
- This upward ascent of this mudra creates an energy circuit that brings forth depth and richness.

Bindu & Ambi Subramaniam

(The authors run SaPa - the Subramaniam Academy of Performing Arts)

NO matter how much we know about how rain is formed, the water cycle and types of clouds, there is still something almost magical about watching it rain. It creates nostalgia, a bit of playfulness (dancing in the rain anyone?) or, if you're anything like me, an intense desire to curl up and do nothing for the rest of the day.

A lot of traditional music around the world has been composed in praise of nature, and folkloric songs often fill the gap to explain things that are (or at least were, at the time) unexplainable. Many cultures have special songs for rain. Some cultures have songs to make it rain, while others have songs that tell stories about the rain.

The musical style of Panihari, was created by Rajasthani women of the desert, singing of rain, flowing rivers, and an abundance of water, which has been a scarce commodity for them. Panihari has grown into a distinct style of music and dance, very important to Rajasthani culture.

In South India, it is often said that Raga Amritavashini brings rain. Legend has it that Muthuswami Dikshitar, one of the Trinity of Carnatic music, created this raga, singing it in a little drought-hit village in Tamil Nadu, causing the skies to immediately open, and the rain to pour. This is a story often told to young Carnatic students, who listen in awe, hoping that they too, one day will have the power one day to invoke the rain. Very often, Carnatic music lovers have anecdotes of an instance where they have heard of the raga bringing rain, while sung or played by a great master.

North Indian Classical or Hindustani music also has raagas like Megh Malhaar, which are believed to cause rain, and there are many annual Monsoon Music Festivals around the country.

In contemporary music, across languages, rain is often associated with longing, romance, and a feeling of loss. Many iconic Bollywood movies have songs themed around rain, as do movie songs in other Indian languages.

There are literally hundreds of songs in contemporary western music – country, pop, rock, soul, and other styles that speak of rain, often using it metaphorically.

As we all know, children are fascinated with rain too, and are often taught songs themed around rain, complete with hand gestures, during the monsoon season.

There is an abundance of music about the rains – in different styles, languages, and with different emotions. Whichever style of music appeals to you, the next time it rains, find a comfy spot near a window, and let it play!

Freedom from love

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan

WE recently celebrated Independence Day – the one holiday that more than 50 countries across the world celebrate thanks to the British. If you think about it, this holiday is a very different one from other ones that are celebrated for some religious occasion or any other such special occurrence. Independence days are celebrated only by erstwhile colonised places that had to liberate themselves from their oppressors through non-violent struggles such as our own, economic struggles or even outright wars fought for freedom's sake. The only countries that don't have Independence Days are ones that were never colonised.

After wrangling our Independence from the oppressive nations that colonised us, it is not like there was an immediate and complete cessation of all ties with the oppressor. In fact, it is quite the opposite. The oppressor nation continues to be quite significant, a major trade partner even.

What gives?

In life, when a relationship gets nasty to the point of feeling oppressed and we break away from the relationship through any means necessary, we hardly ever stay in touch. In fact, we try really hard to move away from the oppressor altogether. Even if we were so gaslighted in the relationship, when we finally get out of it, friends and others will do their utmost to make sure we don't slip back into that unhealthy relationship. We go through much trouble to ensure there is distance between us – emotionally, for sure, and very often, physically as well. The common cure to a break up is distance and time - stay far away from each other for long enough, take as much time as needed and things are bound to get better. If you let enough time to pass and for enough other opportunities to connect with others, sooner or later, one would hope that the old relationship really get washed away from one's life and one feels hopeful enough to seek something new, something different again.

The reality is often quite different. Just as with our colonisers as a nation, many of us struggle with letting go of a toxic relationship. We cling on, thinking that they might actually be quite fine and that we are the problem.

In co-dependent situations, we start to lose identity of ourselves, we don't quite know where they end and we begin, enmeshed with them as we are, making their needs our own, making our happiness depend on their approval and wellbeing, trusting them to do what is needed, losing our self-esteem and even our identity. Everything becomes about the other.

Love is about freedom. Sometimes, true love is freedom from toxic love. It is not always easy to identify, ask for and experience. Sometimes, love has a way of looking like it was everything perfect, and it takes a lot to even identify that one might be sacrificing independence at the altar of love. It is never too late to fight for freedom from toxic love.

Vaibhavi Shandilya shares about the reception for her role in Yogaraj Bhat's directorial

Vaibhavi Shandilya

'I'm overwhelmed with all the love for Gaalipata 2'

CE FEATURES

VAIBHAVI Shandilya is on cloud nine with the success of her latest release Gaalipata 2. The film, directed by Yogaraj Bhat, has her paired opposite Ganesh. The Mumbai-based actor, who is currently in town shooting for Dhruva Sarja-AP Arjun's Martin, mentions that her heart gets filled with joy when people recognise her for her role as Shweta in Gaalipata 2. "I went with my family to watch the film in Mumbai. People had come in large numbers and they all recognised me and spoke fondly. Even when I was shooting in Udupi recently, I had people calling me the 'Gaalipata Girl', and interacting with me. I made my Kannada debut five years back with Raj Vishnu, and I'm now thrilled to receive such a warm welcome for my comeback. I feel my acting has finally paid off, and I'm overwhelmed with all the love from the people of Karnataka."

Vaibhavi has high hopes for her ongoing film Martin as well. "Martin is my first pan India film. It was a wonderful experience working on it. I play a bubbly girl, and it's a role very close to my real life," says Vaibhavi, adding that she is looking forward to establishing herself in Kannada cinema. "I like to experiment with different characters, and not restrict myself. Right now, I have been offered a handful of Kannada films. However, I'm still waiting for the completion of Martin before announcing my next," signs off the hopeful actor.

SANJAY DUTT APPROACHED FOR PREM-DHRUVA SARJA'S NEXT

The director, who is planning to rope in actors from different regions, is said to be in discussion with the Bollywood actor to play a prominent character

Sanjay Dutt

A SHARADHAA

WE had earlier reported that director Prem and Dhruva Sarja were teaming up for a multilingual film, which was officially launched in April. With the song recording by Arjun Janya wrapped up, the work on the pan-Indian film is going on in full swing. The actor-director duo have teamed up for the first time in this project, which is bankrolled by KVN Productions.

Prem, who is making the film in multiple languages, mentioned in a previous interview with CE that he plans to rope in big names from various languages. Accordingly, the speculation is that the makers have approached Sanjay Dutt to be part of the film as its primary antagonist.

It is rumoured that the Bollywood actor has liked the script, and might come on board if other factors fall in place. However, an official confirmation is yet to be made on this progress.

Dhruva Sarja and Prem

Meanwhile, the director, who is in the process of finalising the cast, is getting ready to unveil the title teaser, which might be out in the first week of October. The film's story is set between 1968 and 1978 and is based on a real incident. The makers are planning to build gigantic sets of the city of Bengaluru from that era.

Dhruva Sarja, who is currently on the sets of AP Arjun's Martin, has plans to begin shooting for Prem's film from the end of October. The film will have William David handling the cinematography.

Nikhil Dwivedi, who had turned producer with another multi-women drama Veere Di Wedding, is producing the said film.

It was rumoured that the said film is a remake of the cult Hollywood film, Kill Bill. However, Anurag has always denied it."It is an original" was his cryptic reply when asked. The shooting of the film starts in November. Kriti also has Bhediya, Ganapath, Adipurush and Shehzada in the offing.
